EXCITEMENT IN GERMANY OVER DEBT PAYMENTS

Queen of Yukon Plane Crashes on Ice in Taking Off and Pilot Is Killed

LARGE GAIN REVEALED IN ASSESSMENT

Gross Civic Land and Improvement Figures for Year 1930 Reach Total of $77,328,380

INCREASE OVER 1929 $3,042,893

Net Addition of $1,752,163 Is Made — Exemptions Are 27.63 Per Cent of Gross Assessment

AN increase of $3,042,893 in the 1930 gross civic land and improvement assessments over the figures for 1929 is revealed in a statement issued yesterday by Mr. George Okell, city assessor.

This gain in the assessment roll is made up of $93,629 on land and $2,949,264 on improvements.

Gross land and improvement assessments for the year 1930 amount to $77,328,380, made up of $31,716,870 on land and $45,611,510 on improvements, as against a total of $74,285,487 last year.

The net amounts for 1930 are $56,798,180, made up of $26,261,670 on land and $30,536,510 on improvements, as compared with a total of $55,046,017 for last year.

The gross increase in exemptions for the year 1930 over the year 1929 amounts to $1,290,730, being $55,100 on land and $1,235,630 on improvements. After making these deductions, the net total increased assessments are $58,029 on land and $1,713,640 on improvements, making together $1,771,669.

The exemptions on lands and improvements constitute 27.63 per cent of the gross assessment for 1930. The percentage of exemptions on the total gross assessment shows an increase of 2.1-2 per cent over 1929.

The following is a statement of comparisons in assessments and exemptions for the years 1929 and 1930:

	1930	1929	Inc. Over

Sacred to Canada's Dead

ON Armistice Day, Viscount Willingdon, Governor-General of Canada, will place a wreath beside the Book of Remembrance in the Memorial Chamber at Ottawa. This is the first time a wreath has been allowed to be placed in this sacred chamber, and it will be the only one to adorn the Memorial Altar. Above is a picture of the beautiful memorial showing the Book of Remembrance, which contains the name of every Canadian who lost his life in the Great War, lying open on the altar.

To Call Tenders and Let Contracts Next Week for New Plant of Lois River

VANCOUVER, Nov. 2.—The Powell River Co., Limited, will begin next week, and continue during November and December, the calling for tenders and awarding of a series of contracts for a $6,000,000 power development at Lois River, fourteen miles south of the town of Powell River, which will enable it to double its already immense paper manufacturing operations.

Mr. A. E. McMaster, general manager of the company, today, discussed the money-spending programme, which his company has planned since it was granted the right to develop the Lois River site by the Provincial Government.

With plans nearly complete for the transition of what has been a river innocent of industry into a source of nearly 18,000 horsepower, the company will initiate next week the contract work which will build a second paper-making plant at the Powell River site, erect poles between Powell and Lois Rivers and involve the construction of the new power site of a dam and a mile-long tunnel having an inside diameter of twelve feet six inches.

The first work to be disposed of will be the clearing of a lane for the power line between the plant site and Powell River and the powerhouse site at Stillwater at the mouth of the Lois, fourteen miles away. Then will come the work of constructing the dam and the tunnel.

MAYOR EXPECTED TO STAND AGAIN

Victoria electors will go to the polls on Tuesday, December 12, and elect a mayor and council, school board and police commission for the year 1930.

Mayor Herbert Anscomb, it is expected, will seek a second term as chief magistrate of Victoria. His Worship was elected to the office of mayor at the civic election last December, when he won a three-cornered contest with ex-Alderman Percy R. Brown and Mr. John Dean. Mr. Anscomb was elected to mayor by a majority of 1,820 votes, securing 3,232 votes to 1,412 for Mr. Brown and 1,153 for Mr. Dean.

The electors will have five seats on the city council to fill next month. The five aldermen who retire this year are Aldermen John A. Worthington, Robert A. C. Dewar, John L. Marx, John Harvey and William Marchant, and it is continued on Page 2, Column 4.

B.C. Premier to Lay Foundation Stone on Nov. 5

NEW WESTMINSTER, Nov. 2.—The corner stone of the $1,800,000 female patient building at Esson-dale, under construction by Pacific Engineers, Ltd., will be laid by Hon. S. P. Tolmie, Premier of British Columbia, on Tuesday afternoon, at 2:30 o'clock. This ceremony will be followed by the formal opening of the nurses' home by Miss Ethel Loughheed, sister of Hon. Neil Loughheed, Minister of Public Works.

Sir Hubert Wilkins Off on Exploration Of Antarctic Lands

MONTREAL, Nov. 2.—Captain Sir George Hubert Wilkins, British Antarctic explorer, sailed from here last night aboard the whaler Melville for the Falkland Islands where he will start on his expedition into the Antarctic. He was accompanied by his engineer Orville Porter, the aviator, Parker Cramer and Al. Chessman, and the radio operator, Viggo Holt.

PROGRAMME FOR MALAHAT PROGRESSING

Public Works Department Has Much in Hand for Island and Mainland Highway Projects

MILL BAY ROAD WILL BE WIDENED

Quite a comprehensive programme of work on the roads of the province will be carried out by the Department of Public Works this winter. This will include improvements on the Malahat, where operations are just commencing, and there will be other undertakings brought to completion on Vancouver Island before the fiscal year closes in March.

While this is true of the Island, there is also much to be carried out on the Mainland. This information is obtained from the Department of Public Works, under which the whole programme is to be carried out.

In the administration of the department under Hon. N. S. Loughheed, care has been exercised to keep the expenditures well in hand, so that there may be necessary funds for emergencies that may arise late in the fiscal year. At the same time there is still considerable improvement to be completed in parts of the province where it was inexpedient to interfere with traffic during the busy season.

The Malahat improvement is a point in question. The project near Mill Bay requires prompt attention, but it was not deemed wise to do anything that would block the road for tourist traffic until the main part of the travel was over.

This proposal will now be taken up and carried to completion so as to be ready for the opening of the tourist travel next year.

A similar situation presents itself on some of the Mainland roads. The departmental engineers under the direction of Mr. Loughheed, have still much to carry out, and this will be done on the vote which was made for the year 1929-1930.

Strike of Arabs Celebrates Day Of Baffour Note

JERUSALEM, Nov. 2.—All Arabs in Palestine were in mourning today under a general strike proclaimed on the anniversary of the Balfour declaration pledging British support in establishment of the Jewish Home Land.

Nearly all shops were closed and black flags were flying from Arab residences and the minarets of mosques. Jaffa, Haifa and other towns presented the same appearance. The streets were orderly, however, and no trouble was expected.

CABLE BROKE AND MEN WERE KILLED

LONGVIEW, Wla., Nov. 2.—Two men were instantly killed and two others seriously injured today, when a cable on a private bridge over the Kalamia River, near here, broke and precipitated the men onto the rocks seventy-five feet below.

M. Briand to Be Foreign Minister in France's New Cabinet

PARIS, Nov. 2.—M. Andre Tardieu, wartime High Commissioner of France in the United States, tonight announced in forming a cabinet after one of the longest and most confused ministerial crises in the history of the Third Republic. The Radical Socialists, who failed in attempts to build ministers around M. Edouard Daclard and M. Etienne Clementel, chief figures of the party's Left and Right wings, respectively, refused to collaborate in the new Government. This obliged M. Tardieu to recruit his ministers from the Centre and Right Centre. With M. Aristide Briand remaining at the Quai d'Orsay, M. Henri Cheron at the Ministry of Finance and M. Tardieu himself at the Ministry of the Interior, the cabinet presents a fairly strong appearance as far as the capabilities of its personalities go. Whether it will be able to muster a working majority in the Chamber seems doubtful.

LABOR FACES BIG TROUBLE OVER POLICY

Opposition Will Demand Simon Commission on India Be Upheld by Present Administration

MISS BONFIELD MUCH ATTACKED

Worst Difficulties Threatening Are Those of Dole and Working Hours in Mining Industry

LONDON, Nov. 2 (British United Press).—The Labor Government has run into a series of difficulties, the outcome of which is at present impossible to see. It is certain the Opposition will not press charges against the Government of over-riding the Simon Commission by a declaration in favor of Dominion status for India, such an extent as to involve defeat.

Labor's success in the municipal elections, where they gained more than a hundred seats, shows how dangerous it would be to force the Government to go to the country, but there is no doubt about the resolve of the Opposition parties to uphold the Simon Commission, and their refusal to allow Labor's argument that their declaration was not strictly relevant to the commission to stand.

Also urged against the Government that there is much mystery as to whether Canada and the other Dominions were considered before the Viceroy's statement was made, and probably an attempt will be made to force the Government to reveal whether they were or not.

WORST TROUBLES

However, the Government's troubles are not so serious as those regarding coal and the dole. A round-table conference between the owners and the miners, under the chairmanship of Premier Ramsay MacDonald, has been called for next week to get some measure of agreement on the Government's mining legislation.

In this connection Mr. Herbert Smith is still insisting that a seven-and-a-half-hour day is not enough, particularly as it will confer no benefits on his district of Yorkshire where it already exists. The Miners' Federation is threatening to put the whole issue before a national conference or to the vote of the miners throughout the coal fields.

MISS BONFIELD ATTACKED

On the question of the dole, Miss Margaret Bonfield, the Minister of Labor, is still the target of severe attacks. Many Labor members want to see her removed from office.

OLD PARTIES VERY UNEASY OVER RESULT

Victories of British Labor at Civic Elections Due to Apathy of Large Body of Voters

SOCIALISTS WILL NEED CHECKING

LONDON, Nov. 2.—Labor has now definitely crowned its victories in Parliament by victories in the boroughs. One reason for Labor's sweeping victories in the municipal elections yesterday lay in the apathy with which the old line parties generally regarded the contest.

Labor, on the other hand, widened its sphere of action. It attacked the small as well as the large boroughs. It embarked on a widespread publicity campaign to show that the programme of the Labor Government could be effectively implemented only by Labor control in the municipalities.

"Unless our party realizes in the future that local elections are just as important to us as Parliamentary elections, we are likely to find that 'Socialism in our time' has been introduced by the back door, and we will suffer for neglect of the opportunity which the franchise gives us to make our wishes operative," declared Right Hon. Neville Chamberlain, former Conservative Cabinet Minister, today.

Yesterday's elections did not affect the London borough councils which are elected every three years.

Senators Predict New Measure for Farming Interest

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2.—Predictions were made today by Senators Borah, of Idaho, and Harrison of Mississippi, leaders in the Republican-Independent-Democratic Coalition contest against the Tariff Bill, that a measure confined principally to agricultural rates would be passed at the special session.

MAIL PLANE CRASHES OFF MAYO, YUKON

Pilot Instantly Killed When New Cabin Monoplane Falls Into Ice With Cargo for Dawson

PLANKS USED FOR RESCUE PURPOSES

MAYO, Yukon, Nov. 2.—Crashing through the ice in front of Mayo, the Queen of the Yukon II, the Yukon Airways & Exploration Company's new cabin monoplane, was wrecked and Pilot John Patterson was killed at 1 p.m. today.

The plane was taking off with a full load of mail for Dawson when the accident occurred. There were no passengers on board. A rescue crew immediately laid planks across the insecure ice to reach the plane, where they found the body of Patterson crushed against the rear of the cockpit. All the mail sacks were recovered.

The Queen of the Yukon II arrived in the North about a month ago after a flight from San Diego, via Vancouver. Patterson, who was well known in aviation circles, was employed as a United States mail pilot before joining the Yukon company a year and a half ago. He piloted the new Queen of the Yukon from the factory to Dawson, making hundreds of passenger flights in a score of cities on the way North.

CONFERENCE IS OF IMPORTANCE TO CANADIANS

Question of Equitable Treatment of Foreigners to Come Before Paris League Meetings

PALESTINE RIOTS WILL ALSO ARISE

GENEVA, Nov. 2 (British United Press).—League activities for November will include two international conferences of great importance and a session of the League's Permanent Mandates Commission as has been announced by the secretary.

The first international conference, that for the equitable treatment of foreigners and foreign enterprises in commercial matters, will begin at Paris on November 5. The conference was originally scheduled for Geneva, but upon the insistence of the Latin American bloc in the September assembly, it was transferred to Paris.

The Latin Americans insisted that the conference was of the most vital importance for them, and that as their delegations would be coming to Paris.

Mr. Hannauer left before the game was over with his wife and returned to his hotel, where he died shortly after his arrival.

PREMIER HAS BUSY DAY IN PRAIRIE CITY

Says U.S. Tariff Situation Is Peg for Conservatives on Which to Hang Protection Speeches

IS WELCOMED AT BIG RECEPTION

SASKATOON, Sask., Nov. 2.—The Conservatives had always wanted the tariff raised, and the present tariff situation in the United States was merely another peg on which to hang protectionist speeches, Prime Minister Mackenzie King asserted here tonight.

The present discussion in relation to the Hawley-Smoot Bill served splendidly to divert public opinion from the main objective of the Conservative party at home, he said.

The second speech of Mr. King's tour was delivered at the St. James Avenue Church and broadcast over a considerable portion of Western Canada.

The Prime Minister defined the Liberal party as one of encouraging world trade with the home market reasonably secured. He went extensively into the increase of Canada's tariff broad and contended that much was due to the steps taken by the Government through keeping down the cost of production and cost of living, thereby enabling this country to compete successfully against much larger countries.

The first day of the Prime Minister's stay in Saskatchewan during this trip was crowded with activity. Met by a band and several hundred people at the station platform, Mr. King and his party were accompanied to the hotel, where a luncheon was ready, and immediately afterwards he addressed the members of the executives of various organizations in Saskatoon. Addresses were also delivered by Hon. J. L. Ralston, Minister of National Defence, and Hon. W. R. Motherwell, Minister of Agriculture.

Later in the afternoon a public reception, held in the basement of Third Avenue Church, was attended by men and women regardless of political affiliations.

Col. Robertson To Be Interred In This City

VANCOUVER, Nov. 2.—The remains of Lieutenant-Colonel Francis Arthur Robertson, D.S.O., brother of Rev. J. R. Robertson, of St. James' Anglican Church, who died Friday in Rhaughey Military Hospital, will be forwarded on Monday to Victoria for interment. Rev. E. Mitchell, Rev. E. D. McLaren and Rev. J. R. Robertson will officiate at funeral services which will be held at 2 p.m. Tuesday.

REPARATIONS POT SEETHES IN GERMANY

Proposal for Plebiscite on Young Plan Won by Vote to Discomfiture of Government

SITUATION BEING WELL CONSIDERED

Berlin, Nov. 2.—A plebiscite throughout Germany on rejection of the Young plan now appears a certainty in view of the success of the Nationalists in obtaining the requisite registration for holding such referendum.

While the sponsors of the proposal won only by a nose, the result is likely to keep the German political pot seething.

SMALL REGISTRATION

The plebiscite proposal needed a total of 10 per cent of the electorate in order to place it on a constitutional basis. The electorate numbers 41,019,181, while this afternoon a total of 4,136,384 persons had registered, representing 10.08 per cent.

The entire plebiscite scheme is admittedly distasteful to the Government, which is now faced with a referendum, possibly next January, which will cost huge sums, although it is regarded as doomed to defeat.

The bill, which declares that Germany rejects the war guilt and refuses to assume any further financial burdens or obligations based upon that premise, will come before the Reichstag. In the event that it is rejected, as it is almost certain to be, it will be carried to a plebiscite.

MUTUAL RECRIMINATIONS

Both sides today indulged in mutual recrimination. The Nationalists charged the Government with having attempted in various ways to throttle free expressions of public opinion.

The governmental supporters and newspapers cite numerous alleged instances in which reactionary junkies in the agricultural sections of Pomerania and East Prussia terrorized the farmers' tenants to get signatures. Many stories are published about simple folk who registered in the belief that they would not have to pay reparations any more.

Meanwhile it was announced that the Government would penalize officials severely if they took part in the plebiscite in defiance of orders.

DR. MONTIZAMBERT PASSES AT OTTAWA

Prominent Medical Scientist Who Entered Public Service at Time of Confederation

OTTAWA, Nov. 2.—Dr. Frederick Montizambert, former Director-General of Public Health and sanitary adviser to the Dominion Government, died at his residence here this morning after a prolonged illness.

One of the most prominent members of the medical fraternity, the brochures of Dr. Montizambert on matters pertaining to hygiene contributed much to the welfare of the Dominion. Despite the weight of his eighty-seven years, he took an active interest in public affairs until recently.

His service with the Dominion Government was lengthy, for he was appointed in 1867 as Canada's first quarantine officer. He retired in 1919 when the creation of the Federal Department of Health made his office obsolete. Surviving Dr. Montizambert are four daughters and one son, Col. Harold Montizambert, of Victoria, B.C.

Canadians Need National Spirit Says Journalist

HALIFAX, N.S., Nov. 2.—"While we have many economic problems in Canada our greatest problem is not economic but spiritual. It requires maintenance of a national outlook and a national spirit in the face of a geography that is a constant invitation to sectionalism," said Mr. John M. Imrie, managing director of The Edmonton Journal, in an address here last night.

He spoke on carrying out a new Northwest and declared the present movement to the North and West of Canada was much broader than previous immigration and settlement movements.

DAIRY MEN CONFER UPON MANY ISSUES

Mr. H. Rive, Dairy Commissioner, Returns From Series of Gatherings in Toronto

VALUABLE IDEAS ARE ILLUSTRATED

Group of Conferences Has Dealt With Problems of Industries, Both Technical and Commercial

Mr. Henry Rive, dairy commissioner for the province, has just returned from attendance at a wonderful gathering held in the city of Toronto, when all branches of the dairy industry, as represented in Canada and the United States, were represented. The gathering was known as the Dairy Industries Exposition, while in connection with this meeting the opportunity was taken by the Canadian National Dairy Council to hold its convention at the same time, thus affording the better chance for those connected with the various branches of dairying to gain all the information possible.

On Saturday, October 19, the Canadian organization held its annual meeting, which Mr. Rive attended as an ex-officio member through his position in the department of the province. It was his first attendance at this gathering.

Mr. J. W. Berry, M.P. for Delta, who is a member of the council, was also present among those from British Columbia. The following week the international exposition commenced. There was placed on exhibition in this connection all the latest ideas in the different lines of manufacture connected with the dairy business at the Royal Coliseum in the city, the scene of the Toronto Exhibition.

In addition to the display of accessories machinery, etc., there was also in this connection institutional and trade association displays and international butter contest, an

Constipated Bowels Easily Corrected

This dangerous condition causes headache, piles and sore eyes. The most agreeable and satisfactory remedy is Dr. Hamilton's Pills which make the bowels so well-oiled that natural and unassisted action is established. These little pills are mild and certain in action—they never cause distress or inconvenience. You can quickly correct constipation, and establish perfect regularity by Dr. Hamilton's Pills—safe, reliable, and sold by all druggists. (Adv.)

Giant Golden Eagle Shot

HERE is shown a golden eagle shot by Ernest Cull, West Hill, Ont. It measures forty-two inches of wing spread. Mr. Cull saw the eagle perched on an elm tree behind his house, and tried to capture it alive but failed. Herbert, young son of Mr. Cull, is here seen holding the giant bird.

exhibit under the National Creamery Buttermakers' Association.

MEETINGS COINCIDE

Coincident with the exposition there was held during the first three days of the week the annual convention of the International Association of Milk Dealers. This latter was held in the Royal York Hotel, recently completed.

There were also held at the Royal Coliseum the annual dairy engineering meeting of the American Society of Agricultural Engineers and the national butter testing exhibit.

The multitude of attractions in connection with the gathering was one of the troubles that was experienced by Mr. Rive. He, however, selected from the various proceedings and exhibitions those that would be of most practical value in the Province of British Columbia as conditions are in the industry at present. He has returned with a vast fund of information.

Mr. Rive, however, brings back the consoling information that in the matters of real value to the industry they were in as close touch with the situation as were those in the big centres. There were, of course, in connection with the larger and more densely populated districts of the country, wonderful inventions in the matter of mechanical equipment that could not be expected to be used generally here.

MANY LEADING DELEGATES

As showing the interest that is taken in the matters brought up at such gatherings Mr. Rive was accompanied by Mr. D. Dorman, of Los Angeles, a very extensive operator, who, as his own expense, took to the convention which made the bowels so well-oiled that natural and unassisted action is established. These little pills are mild and certain in action—they never cause distress or inconvenience. You can quickly correct constipation, and establish perfect regularity by Dr. Hamilton's Pills—safe, reliable, and sold by all druggists. (Adv.)

NO MORE BROKEN BOTTLES

In the matter of containers there were many exhibits and a wonderful fund of information available. The age of treated paper as milk containers, it would appear from the results obtained, seemed to be fast approaching, said Mr. Rive. The heavy loss in glass containers was preparing the way for this.

There were shown automatic filling of these containers and the sealing of them so that in the carriage the paper containers might be transported in any position, either with the closed top upwards or the same top turned downwards.

This made for economy in the matter of transport as the containers could be made to fit closely together in the shipping and the local handling. The effects of minerals upon the dairy products entered into the discussions. In this connection it was a general opinion that nickel was one of the best mineral bodies to come in contact with butter and other dairy products without injury to the product. There were a number of amalgams which were also recommended.

PASTEURIZATION

In the city of Toronto the Pasteurization of milk is carried out under very careful scrutiny as far as the city authorities are concerned. The thermometers that are used in the testing are provided by the city and are inspected and kept in order. There are then automatic registering which are recorded without any opportunity of interference and these are collected by the city authorities.

In the matter of Pasteurization Mr. Rive tells of the excellent mechanical facilities that are made possible through the inventions of the supply houses catering to large populations. Containers of large size are filled automatically and when filled cut off and the fluid is turned unaltered into an adjoining container. The heat of the milk in these is gradually increased and at certain temperature shut off.

ICE CREAM TREATMENT

Mr. Rive saw ice cream in a great block, lead over it all with a fine spray of pure fruit juices of various colors, and frozen as it was as sprayed on the mass. The portraits of Rt. Hon. Ramsay MacDonald and other notables were thereby traced on the ice cream block.

In the multitude of lessons to be learned at such a gathering, Mr. Rive said it was impossible to more than refer to a few interesting features. He, however, made the fullest use of his time while the convention and exposition was on and hopes to be able to bring to the industry in British Columbia some advantages from the opportunities afforded.

Period Committee Makes Appeal for More Volunteers

A N urgent appeal for more volunteer workers to aid in the selling of poppies has been issued by the Armistice Period Committee. It is hoped that, in the course of the next few days, many more people will communicate their readiness to assist by telephoning 5673, giving their names and the times at which they will be available.

The need for further subscriptions is also urgent, and the committee relies upon the public of Victoria, which has always been so to the poppy-selling campaign has been a success in past years, to make a special effort this year in seeing that a fitting tribute is paid to those who made the Supreme Sacrifice during the Great War.

Value of Probates Issued Out of Supreme Court of B.C. Here Amounts to $46,263

Ten estates, with a total value of $46,263, were probated during the week ending November 2, it was announced at the Supreme Court Registry at the Court House here yesterday.

The largest estate, left by the late Henry Emmanuel Levy, pioneer resident of Victoria, who died on July 1 last, had a value of $19,212. Other probates and administrations issued out of the Supreme Court of British Columbia at Victoria included the following estates:

Mary Ann Banks, late of Victoria, who died on October 14, 1929; estate, $1,022.

Henrietta Theresa Elder, late of Esquimalt, who died on September 13, 1929; estate, $3,821.

Edmund Prosser, late of Tofino, who died at Victoria on September 20, 1929; estate, $5,836.

Agnes Mackenzie, late of Lake Hill Farm, Victoria, who died on February 27, 1927; estate, $4,405.

Wilhelmina Ann Blair Mackenzie, late of Lake Hill Farm, Victoria, who died on November 7, 1928; estate, $3,814.

Joseph Watkins, late of Saanich, who died at Victoria on September 28, 1929; estate, $4,052.

George Bebbington, late of Esquimalt, who died on July 23, 1929; estate, $2,356.

Elizabeth Lillian Pendray, late of Victoria, who died on October 27, 1921; estate, $1,035.

Halsey Hiram Carpenter, late of San Luis Obispo, Cal., who died on September 16, 1928; B.C. estate, $1,000; total estate, $785,739.

SLIGHT FOOD CHANGES AFFECT THE BODY TREMENDOUSLY

My grandniece weighed less at eight months than at birth, due to infantile eczema. Was plastered with ointments and unbalanced for seven months—entire household exhausted from loss of sleep. I added vegetable juice to each bottle feeding, nothing more. After two days she slept fourteen hours without waking. Ointments then discontinued, baths resumed. No rash, no itching in four years since. Why? Vegetable juice alkalized her blood, killing the acid-caused eczema. Alkaline Roman Meal has kept her blood alkaline since.

Alkaline Roman Meal also saved my life when the great doctor told me twenty years ago I could not live four months. Now at 70 not two per cent of men 30 have muscles, strength and endurance equal to mine, built up out of alkaline Roman Meal. I'll send you a free booklet, "HOW TO KEEP WELL," and other literature, if you'll write for it to ROBT. G. JACKSON, M.D., 315 Vibe Ave., Toronto 9, Ont.; or write for free sample of Roman Meal (Adv.)

LABOR GOVERNMENT'S TEST

The path of the present British Labor Government during its five months in office has been strewn with roses. Both Premier Ramsay MacDonald and Mr. Philip Snowden have concentrated their efforts on withdrawing the attention of the people of Great Britain from domestic to foreign affairs, and, in a measure, they have been successful. Mr. Snowden effected a compromise to Great Britain's advantage, in the terms of the Young Reparations plan. Mr. MacDonald has been in the United States carrying on naval limitation conversations with President Hoover. The press of the two countries has been kind in the extreme to Great Britain's Labor Prime Minister and his Government. They have been showered with compliments because of the idealistic utterances of Mr. MacDonald. Today the Prime Minister is again in England facing a session of Parliament and the stern actualities of the political situation.

The test of the Labor Government lies in its ability to carry out the lavish promises which it made during the last election campaign. Those promises included hopes raised of substantial and rapid improvements in the social conditions of the people and in the unemployment situation. Little, so far, has been done in the matter of unemployment, and it remains to be seen if new legislation can be devised which, while finding work, will not add to the already heavy burden of the British taxpayer. The Government is thus still on the threshold of its main task and more, and more attention in Great Britain will be diverted from foreign to domestic affairs. It is the latter that are of supreme importance, especially where a Labor Government is concerned. The best test of any Government in these years following a great war, with its aftermath of heavy taxation, is its ability to lighten the load on the pockets of those governed. The grandiose schemes of Labor for social betterment hardly foreshadow reduced taxation, and yet ultimately it will be on that very point that the present Government will be judged.

FOR THE BLIND

During the present week a collection campaign is to be conducted in the province to raise a sum of $150,000 to erect a permanent home in Vancouver for the Canadian National Institute for the Blind. The work already carried out on behalf of the blind in British Columbia and throughout the Dominion, has been of a substantial character. It is proposed in this province to put it on a more permanent basis by having a sufficiently adequate headquarters where those who suffer from loss of eyesight will be given training and employment under conditions which will ease their lot in life, while enabling them to maintain their self-respect. The hope is that a sum of $50,000 can be collected towards the fund in Victoria and vicinity.

The Institute for the Blind was incorporated in 1918, the last year of the Great War, and undoubtedly the work received its first great impetus in an organized way because of the number of those who returned from Flanders and other fighting areas deprived of their sight. Since then it has accomplished a most useful work. Its plan of operations comprises the registration of all blind persons. When their needs and inclinations are ascertained they are trained for work and then employment is found for them. The Institute in this province operates a broom factory and a basket shop. It provides raw materials for blind persons working in their own homes. It engages in home-teaching, in reading and writing, in sewing and knitting and in light handicrafts. Assistance is given to blind persons who are needy. It has a free library service, and beyond all this relief it conducts a campaign to prevent blindness and to conserve the sight of the semi-blind.

In British Columbia the Institute, through a Provincial Government grant, and from other sources, is assured of $23,000 for the current year. It needs $33,000 to carry on the work planned. Over and above this amount money is required for the erection of a building at Vancouver and for its maintenance and endowment. The building fund is the cause of the present campaign for a sum of $150,000. Of this amount it is proposed to expend $100,000 for a building and site; $10,000 to make up the deficit in the budget for the current year, and $40,000 as the nucleus of an endowment fund. In the work of raising this special fund there is every reason to hope that the Provincial Government and all the municipalities interested will make grants. The balance, whatever it may be, will depend on public philanthropy. The present campaign is a test of the humanity of the public, their attitude towards the blind and their willingness to assist in the most substantial way towards setting them on their feet, and overcoming, so far as they can, the handicaps under which they labor. There is every reason to hope that the response will be generous to the extent of realizing to the full the hopes of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind.

LIMITATIONS OF SCIENCE

Professor James Kendall has written a book entitled "At Home Among the Atoms," which, among scientific treatises, possesses the refreshing merit of frankness. It contains one pregnant paragraph which it is well to bear in mind where all experimental sciences are concerned. He says: "There is no such thing as a law of nature known to us at present. All our laws in chemistry, or in other sciences, are 'man-formulated' laws. They represent the general result of all the observations which man has made in a given field, and record in the fewest possible words man's interpretation of what he has found to happen."

Some idea of what Professor Kendall means is found in his explanation of the atomic theories. The De Broglie theory is to assume that an electron revolves in its orbit around the nucleus and is attended by a group of waves. He discards any necessity of finding out what the waves consist of. It is assumed they are born a little behind the electron and die out a little way ahead. Professor Kendall says the electron moves so fast and its orbit is so small that the possibility has to be considered that the wave series may persist all round the orbit. Another theory is that advanced by Schrodinger, who says, "If the waves work so well why a material electron at all?" In examining the waves as best he may he deduces involved equations which show that the corpuscular electron is unnecessary. In place of it he imagines a nucleus surrounded by "a vibrating halo, an undulating aura, a pulsating nebula," or whatever other name it may be given. "This," says Professor Kendall, "is electrical in its nature, and the density of its charge fluctuates at different points, but the halo is brightest, the aura is most pronounced, or the nebula is densest around the path of the little hard electron that, as such, is not there any more."

In other words, knowledge about the electron seems about as indeterminate as that which still prevails in respect to light. About the nature of light there are two theories—the corpuscular theory of Newton and the wave theory of Huygens. As in the case of the electron the theories are conflicting. Each, says Professor Kendall, is perfectly satisfactory for half of the facts, and yet inapplicable to the other half. He quotes Sir Oliver Lodge on the two concepts as being like a tiger and a shark—each supreme in its own domain but helpless in that of the other. The physicists, however, use both theories. The moral of all this is that experimental science, far from having reached perfection in its conclusions, should be equally far from being dogmatic. Man-made formulae dealing with laws of nature are never necessarily correct. Man, in many instances, is dealing with something at present outside his purview in the state knowledge has reached. While the laws of nature appear to be immutable man's knowledge concerning them is in a continual state of mutation.

CONSOLATIONS OF POVERTY

In reply to one inquiry over the 'phone and to several questions asked upon the streets, we may say that the average working journalist is not directly interested in the vagaries and distempers of the stock markets. While we are all concerned about the possible effects of the flutter upon the exchanges on the business situation in Canada and our sympathies may be extended to those who have suffered personal losses, the attitude of the average working journalist is very much like that of a well-known Victoria lawyer who, when asked how the fluctuations in the market had affected him, said they did not affect him at all, for he had no money and nobody would lend him any. So, while we laugh in scorn when millionaires like John D. Rockefeller and Henry Ford don the robes of philosophy and tell us that the path of happiness is not paved with gold and that the very rich have more to worry about than the very poor, we think that possibly there may be some consolations in poverty, at least in poverty in the comparative degree. Happiness may be a condition of the mind, but a happy condition of the mind depends to some extent upon a well-nurtured condition of the body. John D. does not look as if he had ever partaken of and enjoyed a really hearty meal, and Henry is not as fat in body as a prize-fighter out of training.

IN PRAISE OF BOOKS

(Canadian Book Week—November 4 to 9, 1929)

Books which speak truth; books worth the time we spend.

In reading from beginning to the end, Books which record the worthy and the good. Relating noble lives, are mental food. They give the soul a fresh, clear breath of life. Which makes us stronger for the daily strife.

Books which recount the joys of place and time. In beautiful words, their spirit and their climes; Transport the reader to a land unknown. And fill the thoughts, making them all their own. Books which amuse in truly wholesome way—Lightensome companions of a holiday.

Deep books of science help our race to live. Improved conditions to mankind they give. Deep Books of God the spirit's life supply. Without whose teaching souls would surely die. Such books are friends, physicians of the soul. And body, too, making a perfect whole.

SIGN BY-LAW

Sir—The objection to the proposed Sign By-Law is that it is not in the interests of the general public. It does not prevent signs projecting over the sidewalk. On the contrary a sign projecting six to seven feet may be three times the size of a sign projecting three to four feet. It does not give merchants an equal chance to advertise their place of business. On the contrary it gives an unfair advantage to users of Neon signs.

Even supposing it is in the interest of the public to promote garish illumination of our streets, it is not in the interest of the general public to increase the difficulties that small storekeepers already have to face in competition with the department stores.

Why should a man with small capital be prevented from having as large a sign as the man with enough capital to buy a Neon sign? Why should a merchant be prohibited from doing his business after p.m. and yet be compelled to keep his sign lighted until 11 p.m.?

The only answer I have heard to those questions is to the effect that the three hundred odd signs that will have to come down if the by-law becomes law, will not have to come down until two years hence, and there will be a new council by that time.

P. R. LEIGHTON.
521 Port Street, Victoria, B.C., November 2, 1929.

BEE CULTURE

Sir—Referring to the article on the question of bee culture for sugar, which appeared in a recent issue, reminds me that the question was taken up some years ago, at the instance of the late Mr. James Dunsinuir, who was an ardent advocate of the question.

Mr. Dunsinuir obtained seed of the best varieties of sugar beet, which was supplied to the Department of Agriculture, and experiments were carried on by the Department at that time, similar to those now proposed.

Speaking from memory, the results proved that the beet produced in the country, was not well suited for the production of beet for the purpose. It was found that in spite of the value of by-products, the sugar produced could not in any way compete with the imported article. The same course was pursued in the present instance; the beets were carefully packed and transmitted to Professor Shutt, in October, and report would now be on file in the department, as well as a report of the experiments made at that time.

As I write entirely from memory, some inaccuracies may be evident, but the report which should be in existence would show all the facts. Under the circumstances it seems before a repetition of all done before.

FALL FLOWERING OF DOGWOOD

Sir—With reference to the second flowering of the dogwood trees, the following excerpt from a letter received from Dr. A. W. Hill, of Kew, will prove of interest.

"We have, unfortunately, only small plants of Cornus Nuttallii at Kew, but they do tend occasionally to produce flowers in the autumn."

Autumn as they do with you in Canada. If only we could get some fine large trees here, I have no doubt cornucopia would be fairly common. The dogwood is a "quite a number of trees and shrubs tend to flower in the autumn which normally flower in the spring. One of the Chinese rhododendrons to this quite normally, and wisteria very often produces several trusses of bloom in September, and I have also seen common laburnum flowering in the autumn and horse chestnut, once in Paris, after a very hot and dry July and early August, followed by heavy rain at the end of August. I saw the avenues of horse chestnut leafless and in full flower in September."

A PUBLIC MARKET

Sir—At different periods the citizens of Victoria are told through the local press what a harvest of wealth could be produced on the Spanish Peninsula and other lands adjacent to Victoria. The first requisite that is required before said land can be brought under cultivation is a market for the produce of same. It is certainly futile to expect people to go on and plant without a market for their produce.

I for one have come to the conclusion that if the citizens want to get results they will have to take a hand themselves. There is a solution, namely, for the Corporation of the City of Victoria to build an up-to-date Public Market.

The writer has interviewed several taxpayers of the city and put this project before them, and only on one occasion did he meet with opposition. His objection was that he had found out by practical experience that the public as a whole refused to carry the produce.

I pointed out to him there was a way to overcome that objection, namely, for the corporation to do the delivery end of it on a systematic basis, so that the produce could be painted a distinct color, with the Corporation of Victoria seal thereon. One can see at a glance the value of that in the way of advertising Victoria.

Needless to say there will be no promoters' fees and other per-

Jots From Geography

THE stories of Strasbourg, France, make themselves very much at home on the chimney tops. They have always been protected and treated as guests in the country, for they always bring good luck to the families residing below, so the townspeople avow.

quishes that generally go with the same. I would suggest that if the citizens of Victoria want this up-to-date Public Market, they should confine the plans for it to our own local architects. In my humble opinion it is about time to give our own citizens a chance for the purpose of showing their ability.

We are often told that visitors like Victoria because it is different from the prevalent type of city. The writer can back up the truth of that statement. Having visited most of the principal cities on the North American continent, I have failed so far to see where the entrance to a fire hall, so to speak, is next door to a Public Market. It is only by an act of Providence that a serious accident has not happened before now. It most assuredly does not speak well of the vision and administrative abilities of our City Fathers to allow such a condition to exist.

Then again, the taxpayers of the city will wake up to the fact one fine morning that the land that reverted back to the corporation through the misfortune of fellow citizens, is fast being taken up in the downtown section at bargain prices, and when the citizens want a parcel of land for such an improvement as a Public Market they will have to pay an exorbitant price for the same.

It is a recognized fact in an up-to-date Public Market is an asset to the city. It is a recognized fact in the progressive community that an up-to-date Public Market is an asset to the city. It is a recognized fact in the progressive community that an up-to-date Public Market is an asset to the city. It is a recognized fact in the progressive community that an up-to-date Public Market is an asset to the city.

WILL LOOK INTO B.C. INTERESTS

Optimism of Sir Henry Thornton of Future of Province Leads to Appointment of Col. Ham

VANCOUVER, Nov. 2.—Recognition that interests of Vancouver and British Columbia and Canadian National Railways are identical, and the optimistic confidence of Sir Henry Thornton in the future of the Pacific Coast, are the chief factors which led to the appointment of Colonel T. A. Ham to the position of assistant to the president, with headquarters in Vancouver. This is the explanation by Colonel Ham this morning in the course of an interview following his arrival at Hotel Vancouver.

HAS FREE HAND

"Sir Henry has given me a free hand to look into every problem of interest in British Columbia from a transportation standpoint, and to report to the executive what the requirements seem to be."

"Naturally, my first duty will be to familiarize myself with those problems, and study requirements and development. I have been coming here off and on for some twenty years, and therefore am not entirely ignorant of conditions."

"Personally I have always been a great believer in Vancouver and British Columbia. In Europe investors are taking a great interest in Canada. By their questions I know they are intensely interested in British Columbia."

TO VISIT VICTORIA

One of Colonel Ham's first duties will be a visit to Victoria to pay his respects to the members of the Government.

During his conversations with Colonel Ham, Sir Henry Thornton showed the greatest interest in the Peace River district.

He instructed me to pay much attention to that phase, and I hope that within reasonable time I will be able to make a trip through the Peace River," he continued.

Sir Henry, said Colonel Ham, realizes that development in Peace River area means an ultimate outlet to the Pacific Coast.

LABOR GAINS

LONDON, Nov. 2.—Complete returns today showed Labor gained sweeping victories in yesterday's municipal elections. In eighty of the largest cities and boroughs in England and Wales Labor gained ninety-nine seats and lost twelve; the Conservatives gained eleven and lost sixty-one; the Liberals gained thirteen and lost twenty-eight.

FIFTY YEARS AGO TODAY

(From The Daily British Colonist of November 3, 1879)

Thomas Harris, Esq., sheriff, has been appointed official assessor for the City and District of Victoria. By a proclamation of the Dominion Government, Lot 5 of the Southern Indian Reserve, on which the Horse and Jockey lavatory stands, has been designated for the operation of the Indian Act. The proprietor obtained a lease of the lot in early days, and so an exemption has been made in his case. Aukut Pukine, a native of Hawaii, aged fifty-six, died at the Royal Hospital, on Monday. He had amassed a considerable fortune in mining speculations, which, however, had been freely spent before he came here.

ALASKA PLANES

REPORTED LOST

TWO MACHINES WITH PILOTS AND SIX PASSENGERS NOT AT NOME

Left North Cape, Siberia, on Thursday With 1,000 Pounds of Furs

NOME, Alaska, Nov. 2.—Pilots Ben Eielson and Frank Borland, who took off from North Cape, Siberia, on Thursday in two Alaska Airways Company planes, with six passengers and 1,000 pounds of furs, expecting to reach here the same day, had not arrived at a late hour Friday.

The Airways Company recently contracted with a fur company to transport fifteen passengers and a large quantity of furs from Siberia to the Alaskan mainland for reshipment to Seattle.

It was believed here that the planes had probably encountered heavy snowstorms near Bering Straits and had landed on the Siberian coast somewhere in the vicinity of East Cape, which is opposite Prince of Wales Island.

POTATO RULES TO BE APPLIED

Provincial Police Will Be CALLED IN TO ENFORCE MARKETING ACT

Attorney-General Is Determined to See Legislation Carried Through

The attempts of a certain element of the Chinese potato growers of the Lower Mainland systematically to defy the Committee of Direction under the Produce Marketing Act as it applies to potatoes, will be met by stringent action. The Provincial Police will be called into requisition to see that the provisions of the act are carried out, where such action becomes necessary.

A little time ago the matter was before the Government when Col. A. W. McLean, the chairman of the Committee of Direction, explained the troubles that he had to face.

It was then agreed that this law, as long as it remained upon the statute books, would be enforced like any other law.

Attorney-General Pooley, as the minister charged with the enforcement of law in the province, takes the position that there must be proper respect for all the laws. It is not to be a matter of choice on the part of residents of this province as to what laws they will observe, and which ones they will defy. All laws must be respected.

MISER'S FOLLY

Miser's folly! Hoarding gold
In some secret place;
Growing weary, growing old,
Missing all life's grace,
Missing joy and love and youth,
Missing all that's dear,
Clinging to their gold instead,
With a greedy grasp,
Greater folly, hoarding love,
Living naught to bless
Other lives, but lonely move
Through earth's emptiness,
Hoarding love when it would Bring
All for which men yearn,
Every day and joyous thing
In love's sweet return.

FRIDAY—Udians Club, Dominion Hotel dining-room, luncheon, 12:45 p.m.
SATURDAY—Rotary Club, grand ice carnival, Willows Arena, 8 p.m.

Clubland in Victoria will experience a busy week, with seven service clubs having luncheon or supper meetings scheduled, and a number of them featuring Armistice programmes.

Rev. George Pringle, pastor of Centennial United Church, will be the speaker-guest at the Gyro Club luncheon tomorrow at noon in the Empress Hotel grillroom. He will discuss a subject relative to Armistice Day commemoration. Major H. Cuthbert Holmes has been appointed by the Gyros to represent the club on the Victoria committee of the League of Nations Society. There will be no club luncheon next Monday, which will be Armistice Day.

Members of the Kiwana Club will hear a discourse by Past President B. C. Nichols at their luncheon session on Tuesday at 12:10 p.m. in the Empress Hotel. The soloist will be Mrs. Arthur Dowell. Selections will be rendered by Kiwana orchestra. Kiwanians A. W. D. King and C. Elwood Watkins will speak briefly on the plans for the Boy Scouts' headquarters building, construction of which will commence this week. The Kiwana Club has reserved a box at the Rotary ice carnival.

The Rotary Club's third annual ice carnival will be held next Saturday night in the Willows Arena at 8 o'clock.

The meeting of the Kumtuka Club in Spencer's private dining-room tomorrow at 12 noon will take the form of a Thanksgiving luncheon. There will be no special speaker, but a special musical programme will be rendered. The Victoria Table of Ye Loyal Knights of the Round Table will hold a supper meeting at 6 o'clock on Tuesday night in the Empress Hotel, when business of the organization will be considered. The Kinsmen Club's regular session will take place on Thursday night in the Empress Hotel at 6 o'clock, when a good programme will be presented.

Student of International Affairs Will Speak Tomorrow Evening at Victoria College

Under the auspices of the Women's Educational Club Mrs. Laura Jamieson, of Vancouver, will give an address at Victoria College tomorrow evening at 8:15 o'clock on "Central Europe, Its Problems and Charms." While in Europe last Summer Mrs. Jamieson attended a congress at Prague as delegate of the Canadian section of women in the International League for Peace. In Geneva she attended the conference of Federated University Women's Clubs, and as delegate of the Parent-Teacher Association attended the conference of the World Federation of Education Associations. She also attended a special course of lectures on international affairs. A cordial invitation is extended to the public to attend tomorrow evening's address, and no charge will be made for admission.

Obituary

BLUME—The funeral of the late John Blume will take place from Hayward's B.C. Funeral Chapel on Monday morning at 8:45 o'clock, proceeding to St. Andrew's Cathedral, where mass will be conducted at 9 o'clock. The remains will be laid to rest in Ross Bay Cemetery.

PORRITT—The death took place yesterday of Mrs. Marion Emily Porritt, of 2614 Roseberry Avenue. The late Mrs. Porritt was a resident of this city for the past thirteen years. She was a native of Portsmouth, England, and was seventy-four years of age. The late Mrs. Porritt leaves to mourn her loss one daughter, Mrs. A. N. Murry, of 2331 Blanshard Street, and one grandson, one sister and two brothers in England. Her husband predeceased her four years ago. The funeral will take place from the Sands Funeral Chapel on Tuesday, November 5, at 3:30 o'clock. Interment will be made in the family plot at Ross Bay Cemetery.

MARBOEUF—The death took place at Cowichan Lake on November 2 of Mrs. Lucile Pauline Marboeuf. The late Mrs. Marboeuf was a resident of Victoria for the past forty-five years, was seventy-one years of age and was born in San Francisco, Cal. She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. G. Kay Gillespie and Miss Louise Marboeuf, of Cowichan Lake, also four grandchildren. The cortege will leave the Sands Funeral Chapel at 9:50 o'clock Tuesday morning, proceeding to St. Andrew's Cathedral, where mass will be said. Rev. E. E. Evans officiating. The remains will be laid to rest in Ross Bay Cemetery.

PHIPPS—The funeral of the late Herbert Phipps, who passed away last Tuesday, took place yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Sands Funeral Chapel. Relatives and many friends were in attendance, and the casket was covered with many beautiful flowers. Rev. J. B. Rowell officiated and the hymns sung were "Abide With Me" and "Lead, Kindly Light." Messrs. S. Strang, J. Hamilton, R. T. Milne, personal friends, and M. Phipps and A. Phipps, sons, and W. Crabb, son-in-law of the late Mr. Phipps, acted as pallbearers. The remains were laid to rest in the Royal Oak Burial Park.

SHAW—Charles Shaw, aged sixty-four years, 809 Fort Street, passed away on Saturday morning at the Royal Jubilee Hospital. His wife predeceased him six weeks ago. He was born in Yorkshire, England, and came to Winnipeg in 1902, and afterwards lived in Edmonton for a number of years before coming to reside here. He was proprietor of the Economy Wardrobe, 809 Fort Street. He is survived by one son, Gordon, of this city; one sister in Manchester, England; a nephew in Everett, Wash.; a niece in Chelsea, Wash.; and one in Seattle. The late Mr. Shaw was a member of Britannia Lodge, A.F. & A.M., Sons of England and local Orange Association. The funeral will take place on Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock from McCall Brothers' Funeral Home, Dr. A. F. Barton officiating. The service will be under the auspices of Britannia Lodge, A.F. & A.M., which will hold services at the graveside.

GOVERNMENT EMPLOYEES HOLD SMOKER

Local Council of Amalgamated Civil Servants of Canada Hear Officials Speak at Entertainment

DECLARE OBJECTS OF ORGANIZATION

With the national president, Harold Baker, of the Vancouver custom's staff, in the chair, the Victoria Local Council of the Amalgamated Civil Servants of Canada held a most successful social evening in the Assembly Hall, 1414 Douglas Street, last evening, which took the form of a smoker, the event bringing out a representative gathering of Dominion Government employees to enjoy a diversified programme of songs and sketches, as well as listen to the addresses of several prominent officials of the association. Among the speakers were the president, H. Baker; the vice-president for British Columbia, F. McGrath; of New Westminster, and W. Lorimer, of Victoria. Mr. Lorimer pointed out the advantages of all employees of the Dominion Government belonging to the amalgamation, thus enabling all departments to be represented by one head, who would act for all at Ottawa when necessary, instead of having to send separate deputations from time to time as in the past. The other speakers touched on what transpired at the fifth biennial convention at Toronto, where so much that was beneficial to Government employees had been accomplished. The organization was out to obtain equal rights for every worker in every branch of the service. The speakers were eulogistic of the manner in which Mr. Aubrey Jones, the Victoria delegate, had fulfilled the duties of press agent at the convention, taking advantage of every opportunity to keep the business of the gathering in the public eye.

NOT A JOY RIDE

Mr. McGrath stated that the trip to Toronto had been no joy ride. In their efforts to obtain an eight-hour day for members of the civil service, the delegates had to put in from sixteen to eighteen hours every day themselves. Through the efforts of the National Council a settlement had been made for the benefit of the Winnipeg ex-strikers. The main object was to include all branches of the civil service in only one union.

by certain branches under the Civil Service Commission. The case of the lightkeeper who was recently drowned at Quatsino Sound was referred to. This case, stated Mr. McGrath, should have come under the scope of the Superannuation Act, but under existing conditions the dependents of the deceased will receive no compensation of any kind. There are thousands in the same position at the present time. Every effort is being made to remedy the situation.

INEQUALITIES ADDUCED

The circumstance that certain branches are favored above others is one that wants rectifying. We feel that all employees are entitled to like benefits. All branches should be paid twice a month. Some branches are paid this way, some are not, while the civil servants at Ottawa are paid two weeks in advance. There are certain railway men laid off in 1926 to Alberta and British Columbia. When this is done certain employees will be deprived of their positions—between three and four hundred in the two provinces—whereas they should be taken care of by the Government. We have written the Minister of Labor in this connection, asking what will happen to the civil servants so affected and the only answer we can get is Section 7 of the Superannuation Act provides for them.

The programme rendered consisted of "O Canada," song, by Dr. Jones; speech, Third Vice-president F. McGrath; song, D. L. Park; song, Seymour White; mystic eastern sketch, Mr. G. H. Hallett, assisted by Sydney Webb and Percy Fletcher; novelty turn "Miss Victoria," A. Grainger; speech, Walter Lorimer; song, R. Lee; song, J. Mason; song, A. Lee; mouth organ solo, Mr. Godson; speech, President H. Baker; closing remarks, R. E. Fitzgerald, president, Victoria Local Council. Accompanist for the concert numbers, Percy Fletcher.

POLITICAL DATE BY RADIO WILL FLOURISH FREELY

Political campaigns of the future in the United States will be largely campaigns by radio, according to Senator Nye of North Dakota. He asserts that to prevent the control of public discussion by private stations the enactment of a measure is necessary to assure the national candidates of all parties the right to reach, without cost, the entire United States.

He points out that in recent campaigns enormous amounts were spent for radio. Obviously the candidate backed by the largest campaign fund has the best opportunity to get his message to the voter. With a national government-owned station, which he proposes, all parties can reach the voter without expense, thus assuring forever complete freedom of discussion.

TRIBUTE TO BENEFACTORS TO BE PAID

Will Unveil Portraits of Late Mr. D. Doig and Late Mr. J. B. Greaves at Jubilee Hospital

CEREMONY TO BE ON NOVEMBER 14

The unveiling of enlarged portraits of the late Mr. David Doig and the late Mr. Joseph B. Greaves, both of whom left generous bequests to the Royal Provincial Jubilee Hospital when they died, will take place at a ceremony in the blue room of the Jubilee Hospital, on Thursday afternoon, November 14, at 4 o'clock, under the auspices of the board of directors of the institution.

Alderman John A. Worthington, a director of the Jubilee Hospital, who is completing all arrangements for the ceremony on behalf of the board, stated yesterday that Hon. R. R. Bruce and Miss Helen MacKenzie had accepted an invitation to attend the unveiling, and that His Honor would speak a few words appropriate to the occasion.

Premier S. F. Tolmie, Hon. S. L. Howe, Provincial Secretary, under whose department the administration of hospitals falls, and Mayor Herbert Anscomb will also deliver addresses.

Mr. Joseph Blackburne Greaves died on June 13, 1915, and Mr. David Doig passed away on June 8, 1929.

The portraits of Mr. Greaves and Mr. Doig will be hung on the walls in the corridors of the hospital. The Women's Auxiliary of the Jubilee Hospital is holding its annual linen shower the same day at the hospital, and it is expected that many of the patrons of the shower will witness the unveiling ceremony.

SERGEANTS' SMOKER HELD AT ARMORIES

The first amalgamated sergeants' smoker was held at the Armories last night. Regimental Sergeant-Major Haich was in the chair. Colonel Harris made a few remarks and the following artists contributed to the entertainment: D. L. A. Jones, a recitation, and vocal and comic solos by Mr. Rhodes, Mr. Rock, Mr. Guy, Company Sergeant-Major Robertson, Mr. Jackman, Mr. Matheson, Sergeant Leed, Battalion M.S. PREMIER HAS
ANNIVERSARY

Centenary of Dr. W. F. Tolmie's Visit to Mount Rainier Will Be Celebrated in 1933

FOUND SAXIFRAGE
NAMED AFTER HIM

The Premier of British Columbia is a busy man filling engagements many of which demands are made upon him for long periods in advance. One of his latest "bookings" is set for the year 1933.

Premier Tolmie has been requested by the Ranier National Park Advisory Board, which comprises representatives of the Chambers of Commerce of Seattle, Tacoma, and other cities in the vicinity of the mountain, together with various other bodies, to be present as the guest of the organization on a date to be fixed in the year mentioned to celebrate the first visit of Dr. William Fraser Tolmie to Mount Rainier.

FIRST WHITE MAN
The visit of the Premier's father to that mountain marks the first arrival of a white man at this picturesque mountain. Dr. Tolmie was then in charge of the Hudson's Bay Company, the medical men did not ascribe so much importance to many of the branches of medicine that are stressed at this time. There was, however, importance attaching to medicinal herbs and plants.

Mr. Asahel Curtis, chairman of the Ranier National Park Advisory Board, in communicating with Premier Tolmie and making a request that he attend this centenary of the visit of his father, the first white person to set foot on Mount Rainier, gives the information that by the year first mentioned, that of 1933, it is expected that a road now being constructed into the northeast corner of the park will be completed up to a point "under the peak which is named in honor of your father" and up to the Mountain Meadows of Spray Park.

Newspaper clippings referring to the celebration that is planned were also sent to the Premier, and in the course of these appear quotations from the diary of the Premier's father made on his visit in 1833.

There is enclosed a beautiful photograph of the Tolmie saxifrage in full bloom in its habitat on the mountain. Mr. Curtis describes the flower as follows: "This is a tiny, clear, wax-like flower that grows high on Mount Rainier. It grows on bare volcanic ash and pumice without any vegetation around it. This is one of the most attractive of the high altitude flowers in our national park, and was named in honor of your father who discovered it on his first trip to the mountain nearly a century ago."

Appeal to Help
Fund for Blind
Meets Success

MR. FRED LANDBERG and Mr. M. C. Robinson, president of the Western Division of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind, made an appeal to those present at last night's boxing bout at the Tillamook Gymnasium to assist in raising money to build the new fire-proof building for the blind.

That the appeal will be a success was definitely shown last night when two boxing fans offered to contribute $100 each to assist the cause.

At Aged Men's Home—Mr. Fred Landberg, accompanied by Mr. J. W. Hudson, paid a visit to the Home for Aged and Infirm Men, and paid the usual monthly donation of $2 per man to all nonpensioners.

Provincial Museum—The Provincial Museum will continue to be open on Sunday afternoons between the hours of 1 and 5 o'clock, owing to the general interest and large attendance which has greatly increased compared with that of former years.

Gogovale Ashore—Bound for Vancouver, the freighter Gogovale ran ashore on Bentinck Island at 11 o'clock yesterday morning while trying to locate the quarantine station in a heavy fog. She got off under her own power a few minutes after damage being confined to the forepeak.

Saanich Tax Collections—The Municipality of Saanich has collected $177,061 out of $195,515 taxes levied up to the period when the first penalty began to be due on October 11, representing 90.56 per cent of the levy. This compares with 89.3 per cent in the corresponding period of 1928 and constitutes a record.

To Open Gymnasium—Hon. R. R. Bruce will officially open the new gymnasium at the University of British Columbia on November 9. It is also hoped to have Hon. J. H. Hinchliffe, Minister of Education, as a guest, as well as his colleague, Hon. N. B. Loughheed, Minister of Public Works. Members of the Senate and board of governors will be invited to attend.

Commission Meets Here—The Provincial Public Libraries Commission met yesterday in the library of the Parliament Buildings, when matters connected with the work of the body were discussed at some length. Following the conclusion of the meeting, it was announced that there was nothing for publication. The matters that were discussed, it was announced, were of a character that would require a conference with the minister, Hon. S. L. Howe. This action will be taken as soon as possible.

Two Charged in Court Following
Automobile Crash

The outcome of an automobile accident on Esquimalt Road, in which a car crashed into a telephone pole, resulted in two persons appearing in the city police court yesterday morning.

Roderick Macfarlane, the driver, who was charged with driving to the common danger, pleaded some guilt and was remanded until Monday.

William Pope, who was riding in the car at the time, was charged with being intoxicated in a public place, but pleaded not guilty, stating that he was seized by the accident. Chief John Fry, acting for the prosecution, asked for an adjournment until Monday.

TO PAY DIVIDENDS

VANCOUVER, Nov. 2.—Home Oil Company has funds in hand which will make possible the payment of another twenty-cent dividend on November 30, declared Hon. W. C. Shelly, president of the Home Oil Company, this morning. He also stated that, in view of the increasing revenue, it was hoped the company would go on a twenty-five-cent dividend basis every two months in 1930.

In St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, at 11 a.m. today, the minister, Rev. J. S. Patterson, will preach on "Christian Love and Christian Hate." In the afternoon there will be a great temperance rally of the Sunday school children, parents and friends, at 2:30. Mrs. Knox, of Emanuel Baptist Church, will speak. At 7:30 p.m. the minister, who has recently returned from Scotland, and knows something of the Scottish church union, will speak on "Observation of the Scottish Church Union Situation." The song service will commence at 7:15 p.m.

Bishop Schofield will preach this morning at St. John's Church.

To Make Check
Of Itinerant
Dokkhobors

Greater care is to be exercised in the admission of Dokkhobor trouble-makers from the United States than has been the practice in the past. This action is being provided for under joint arrangement between the provincial and the federal authorities.

It has been contended that there has been rather free passage among those people between Canada and the United States in the past. There are instances where some of these people, living quiet and inoffensive lives in some of the states, upon the first sign of fanatic parades about to start in Canada, have made their way across the border and joined their friends here in making trouble.

It is even believed that persons from the United States who entered the province were in no small measure responsible for the inciting of trouble.

Now with the co-operation of the federal authorities these people are being halted, and will be turned back unless they can show good cause for entering.

ICE CARNIVAL
GOING STRONG

Purchasers of Tickets for Next Saturday's Event Form Steady Stream—Big Crowd Is Now Assured

WIDE DEMAND FOR
BOXES FOR PARTIES

ROY SHIPSTAD

That every seat in the Arena will be taken next Saturday evening when the Glazeh Shrine Band plays the opening march and the big Rotary Ice Carnival gets under way, is practically assured. Ticket purchasers in a steady stream have been visiting the carnival headquarters at 635 Fort Street every day this week.

SKATING STARS COMING

Surpassing the Rotary ice carnival of other years in the number of celebrated ice performers, next Saturday's event will stand out as the greatest ice show ever seen in Victoria. The programme includes such notable performers as the Smith Sisters, of Toronto, Canada's Olympic champions; Shipstad and Bennett, of Minneapolis; Beckley and Russell, of Cincinnati, premier ice wizards of Madison Square Gardens, New York, and the Coliseum, in Chicago.

PRESENT COLORFUL BALLET

Fifty-two members of the Comnaught Skating Club, Vancouver, will take part in two beautiful ballets, "Powder and Patches," and "The Russian Revellers." Included in the Vancouver party are the following: Mrs. W. O. Banfield, Miss A. Robinson, Miss K. Smith, Miss B. Cioetta, Mrs. Hamilton White, Mrs. L. M. McKechnie, Mrs. J. A. Wickson, Miss M. Highmore, Mrs. S. Ross, Mrs. A. E. Wark, Mrs. D. M. McDonald, Mrs. A. Scarfe, Mrs. Edith Meredith, Miss C. E. Ross, Miss M. Neil, Mrs. N. B. Archibald, Mrs. DesBrisay, Mrs. W. E. Drake, Miss M. Nation, Miss S. E. Robinson, Miss A. Robinson, Miss G. Clendinning, Mrs. Worsley, and the following gentlemen: Messrs. A. C. DesBrisay, D. McDonald, W. H. Moore, Hamilton White, A. M. White, H. G. Weeks, Elmore Meredith, M. B. Archibald, J. A. Wickson, G. Mayall, W. O. Banfield, W. K. Knowlton and Dr. A. E. Wark.

Rotarian James H. Fletcher, in charge of the sale of boxes, reports that many local people have signified their intention of bringing parties to the ice carnival. Among those who have reserved their boxes are: The Premier and Mrs. S. F. Tolmie, the Mayor and Mrs. Anson, Miss Agnew, Mr. Herbert Carmichael, Mr. Brook Stevenson, Mr. A. T. Coward, Mr. Charles Todd, Mr. L. A. Genge, Mr. E. Tomlin, Mr. D. J. Angus, Mr. John Klasinger, Mr. J. W. Spencer and Mr. W. A. Davis. Box reservations should be telephoned direct to Mr. Fletcher.

Between 2 and 3 o'clock on Monday afternoon, at the Glitz Edge Fox Farm No. 1, Whittier Avenue, Mr. Mayers, an expert on fox rearing, will give an address on "Raising of Fur," and the Kind the Market Requires."

Women's Clubs and Societies

Canadian Daughters' League

Miss Grace Adams and Mrs. R. Stinson were hostesses at bridge parties held at their respective homes on Minto and Moss Streets, under the auspices of the western group of Assembly No. 5, Canadian Daughters' League. The first prizes were won by Miss Bartholomew and Mr. Glen, while the second prizes were secured by Miss Symes and Mrs. Cameron. Halloween colors were used in the decorations, and delicious refreshments were served. On Wednesday afternoon next this Assembly will arrange a table at the Y.M.C.A. guest tea for the members and their friends. Reservations may be made by telephoning Mrs. Morrison, 6155L.

League Meeting

Assembly No. 5, Canadian Daughters' League, will hold its regular business meeting in the Sons of Canada Hall, View Street, next Tuesday evening, at 8 o'clock. Initiation of new members will take place, and a good attendance is expected.

Annual Tea

Young People's Society

The Y.P.S. of the Esquimalt United Church held a social in the schoolroom on Friday evening. The candy shop, souvenir stand and lunch counter were attractively decorated with black and orange crepe paper. Games and contests occupied the evening, the first prize going to the group wearing the pale green ribbon, while the white ribbon won the booby prize.

Missionary Society

The annual thank-offering meeting of the Women's Missionary Society of the Victoria West United Church, will be held at the home of Mrs. H. J. Armitage, 561 McPherson Avenue, on Tuesday at 2:45 o'clock. Rev. Hugh Nixon, pastor of Fairfield United Church, will be the special speaker. All ladies of the church will be cordially welcome.

Lady Douglas Chapter

The regular monthly meeting of the Lady Douglas Chapter, I.O.D.E., will be held on Thursday at 401 Union Building, at 2:30 p.m. Members are particularly requested to attend this meeting as final arrangements have to be made for the commemoration on November 19, of the birthday of the colony of British Columbia.

Quadrant P.T.A.

The Quadrant Parent-Teacher Association will meet in the auditorium tomorrow when plans will be made for the forthcoming bazaar. Members are asked to note the change of date, owing to Thanksgiving. A partner whist card party will be held at the school on Thursday at 8 p.m., when prizes will be given and refreshments served.

Y.W.C.A. Prayer Week

The World's Week of Prayer and World Fellowship in connection with the Young Women's Christian Association will be observed from November 10 to 16. A service will be held in the clubroom of the local association each day at 3 o'clock, to which everyone is invited.

Forming New Club

A meeting will be held in the Y.W.C.A. on Friday, November 8, at 8 o'clock, to organize a Current Events Club. Mrs. Hugh McKendall will have charge of the club and everyone interested is invited to be present.

Queen Alexandra Review

Officers and members of Queen Alexandra Review No. 1, W.B.A., are reminded of the meeting to be held in the K. of C. Hall tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock. As there are many questions to be discussed, everyone is asked to attend.

Silver Tea

A silver tea is being planned by the Oak Bay subdivision of the Catholic Women's League to take place at the parish house of Our Lady of Lourdes Church next Tuesday afternoon, when all friends, especially newcomers, will be welcome.

Rockland Park W.C.T.U.

The Rockland Park W.C.T.U. will meet tomorrow afternoon, at the home of Mrs. Whitley, 1186 Yates Street, at 2:30 o'clock. It is hoped that all members will attend, as there is important business to transact.

Local Council

The Local Council of Women will meet tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in the Campbell Building. The date of the meeting has been advanced a week owing to the holiday falling on the regular meeting day.

Daughters of the Nile

All those desiring reservations for the bridge tea of the Daughters of the Nile next Saturday afternoon, in the new Shrine Temple, View Street, are asked to phone Mrs. Nellie Brown, 3003R, or Mrs. P. B. Schmeek, 3293L.

Y.W.C.A. Bible Class

The Young Women's Bible Class will meet on Sunday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock. The subject for discussion will be "A Rich Young Man." A cordial invitation is extended to everyone.

Women's Institutes of Vancouver Island

GARDEN CITY

A pleasant social evening was spent on Friday, when the committee of the Garden City Women's Institute held its fortnightly card party. Ten tables were in play, the following being successful prize winners: Ladies', first, Miss Kathleen Drennen; gentlemen, first, Mr. Ross; ten bid, Miss Drennen and Mr. Irving; consolation, Mr. Lynn (substitute) and Mr. Watt. Refreshments were served at the close of the game by Mrs. Wilkinson and Mrs. Hooper. The next card party will be held on Friday, November 15, at 8 p.m.

VICTORIA

A well-attended silver tea was given yesterday by the members of Victoria Women's Institute in the Institute rooms. The tables looked pretty with bright-colored dahlia, and many guests came to enjoy the afternoon. Mrs. Terry convoked the tea. Many articles of plain and fancy sewing were displayed during the afternoon. Mrs. Arnold and Mrs. Peden arranged this stall, while Mrs. Murkar and Mrs. Brin found ready sale for home cooking and candy. The hooked woolen rug, made by the members from woolen yarn spun and dyed at the local mill, will go to the holder of ticket No. 408.

COBBLE HILL W.A.

A meeting of the St. John's branch of the W.A. was held in the hall, Cobble Hill, on Friday afternoon. There were nine members present. Mrs. H. P. Tooker, president, in the chair. Among other matters it was arranged to put curtains in the vestry. A generous donation of materials was acknowledged from Messrs. T. Eaton Co. These will be made up at a sewing bee in the vestry on November 6 for the forthcoming sale of work. A letter was read from Miss Agnes Baxter, of the China Mission, who sent some very interesting Chinese Christmas cards and thanked the W.A. for regularly sending her The Living Message. New members elected were Mrs. R. J. Horton and Mrs. W. May. Mrs. Cheeke was ten hostess assisted by Mrs. D. McPherson.

Mrs. W. S. Corbie, of Herd Road, gave a Halloween party in honor of her daughter, Miss Hilda Corbie, who also celebrated her birthday.

Fashion Fancies

By Marie Helmon

No wonder the new lounging pajamas are now dignified under the title of hostess pajamas! What could be more flattering to her charms or create a more homelike atmosphere for the afternoon informal tete-a-tete? This lounging ensemble sketched above would be an inspiration to any hostess and a compliment to her guest.

Black satin offers dignity to the jacket and full trousers while the soft blouse of yellow satin promises convivial warmth and color. The blouse is fitted from hip to waistline by means of vertical bands and shirring. The finger-tip jacket achieves an added triumph by a lining of yellow satin which endows it with reversible possibilities. The trousers are cut in such a manner that part of the legs are revealed at front while the back is circular and reaches down to the floor.

Annual Guest Tea Planned

The Lieutenant-Governor and Miss Mackenzie have accepted the invitation of the Ladies' Auxiliary to the Y.M.C.A. to attend the guest tea at the Y.M.C.A. Building on Wednesday, at 3:30 o'clock.

Mrs. J. H. Fletcher, president of the Ladies' Auxiliary, is general convener of the tea, and will preside at the head table, with Mrs. S. Toimie, Mrs. Herbert Anson, Miss Kathleen Agnew and Miss Sara Spencer assisting in pouring tea. A musical programme has been arranged by Mrs. J. O. Cameron, with the following taking part: Miss Doris Bagshaw will sing a group of songs, Miss Adele Bucklin will contribute violin solos, Bill and Betty Mac Cameron will do a tap dance, and Dr. H. T. Johns will give a group of songs. Mrs. C. C. Warn has graciously consented to play the accompaniments.

In addition to the many private tables, the following organizations will be represented, having from ten to forty guests each: The Canadian Daughters' League, Assembly No. 5, the Gyro, Rotary and Kiwanis Clubs, the Metropolitan United Church and the P.E.O. Sisterhood.

To all those who are interested in this work and who have not yet arranged to be at any special table, the auxiliary extends a cordial invitation to attend and sit at one of the tables provided by the special committee in charge.

The musical programme will begin promptly at 4 o'clock, and all tables will be served immediately at the close of the programme, so that all guests are requested to be seated at the tables not later than 3:45 o'clock.

East Sooke Party

A very enjoyable Halloween party was given by Mrs. Muford and her pupils on Thursday afternoon. Many of the mothers were present. The first part of the programme was provided by the children, and the second part by the visitors. The recitations and small plays were rendered in good style and showed perseverance on the part of the young learners. Several competitions were closely contested for, and prizes were given as follows: Newspaper dress, first, Gwendolyn Thornt; second, Helen Brown; special, Kathleen Wilson; newspaper overall, made by a boy, Richard Wilson; girl scoring most points in contest, Gwendolyn Thornt; boy scoring most points in contest, John Walker; lady scoring most points in contest, Lady Emily Walker; lady's hat of newspaper, first, Mrs. Wicker; special, Mrs. Caffery; consolation, Lady Emily Walker. Guessing name of a decorated black china cat, Lady Emily Walker, with the name, "Halloween Blackie." After a beautiful tea had been partaken of, "Auld Lang Syne" was sung. Lady Emily Walker proposed a hearty vote of thanks to Mrs. Muford and her pupils, and the proceedings ended with the National Anthem.

Nanaimo Social

A very charming Halloween party was held on Friday evening at the home of Miss Bertha Bertram, Albert Street, when she entertained the Polyantha Group of the local C.G.I.T. girls of St. Andrew's United Church. The rooms were very prettily and appropriately decorated for the occasion in Halloween colors and novelties. The evening was pleasantly spent in dancing, music and games. The winner of the guessing contest was Miss Sarah Simpson.

Guy Fawkes Dance

The Guy Fawkes' dance to be held on Friday under the auspices of the Loyal Orange Association will be the first public dance in the new Shrine Auditorium.

Commemorating, as it does, the frustration of the gunpowder plot on November 5, 1605, the committee is making a special effort to ensure the success of the dance, and a five-piece orchestra has been secured to furnish the music. As an added attraction, a Kolater radio will be given away during the evening.

Kiddies Enjoy Party at Children's Aid Home

Post No. 3, Native Daughters of British Columbia, entertained the children and staff of the Children's Aid Home at their annual Halloween party on Friday evening. Mrs. J. A. Lorimer and Miss H. Neelds decorated the rooms with bright Halloween cut-outs of cats, pumpkins and owls. In the dining-room three huge lighted pumpkins looked down on the colorful tables, bright with vases of orange dahlias, black and white paper napkins, and dainty individual candy boxes. Full of fruit and home-made candy. The bountiful repast, convened by Mrs. S. J. Stapledon, held the close attention of the children until they retired to the playroom, where musical games were enjoyed, with Miss Thain at the piano.

At 8 o'clock the following programme was given: "Little Bateese" and "The Stranger," by Eddie Lewis; tap dance, "Schooldays," by Dorothy Peacock, Hilda Jacques, Agnes Finn and Joyce Daniel; recitations, "Always Saying Don't" and "The Song of the Axe," by Jack Stokes; Minuet, Jean Osgood and Joyce Daniel; recitation, "Little Ophelia Annie," by Miss E. G. Lawson; waltz, clog, Jean Osgood; tumbling stunts by Fred and Rudolph Laeffler, from the Y.M.C.A.; recitations, "The Trials of a School Teacher" and "Grandma Pays the Bill," by Nora Garlin; story, "The Little Small Red Hen," by Miss E. G. Lawson.

The children reciting were pupils of Mrs. Wilfrid Orr and the dances were taught by Miss Clough. After community singing led by Mr. H. A. Beckwith, "God Save the King" brought the evening to a close.

Blaze Cost $1,000,000

DOME Mine mill, Porcupine, has been swept by a blaze, causing damage estimated at $1,000,000. No since 1911, when Porcupine camp was burned out by forest fires, has a mill in this district been destroyed by fire. Dome mill was one of the first to be built in the Porcupine gold area. The photograph here shows the mill structure razed by the blaze, with, inset, Alexander Fasken, K.C., Toronto, one of the directors of Dome Mine.

PLOUGHING WON BY MR. MURRAY

HAS TOTAL OF NINETY-SIX MARKS IN MATCH AT COURTENAY

J. Salts Wins Junior Event—Good Prizes Are Provided for Winners

COURTENAY, Nov. 2.—Mr. William Urquhart's farm presented an appearance of much activity on Wednesday when the Fall ploughing match, under the auspices of the Comox Agricultural and Industrial Association took place.

All contestants were ready for the start at 9:30 a.m. The ground had been well prepared by the committee, composed of Messrs. R. U. Hurford, J. H. McIntyre, G. T. Garfield and William Duncan, assisted by Mr. James Reid. Mr. John A. Turner, of the Uplands, Victoria, was the judge provided by the Department of Agriculture, and gave entire satisfaction to all those taking part.

Mr. John Murray, with a total score of ninety-six points, was awarded the first prize in the senior class, the others finishing in the order named: Mr. D. Robertson, of Denman Island; Mr. James Casanave, of Sandwick; Mr. Herbert Bridges, of Sandwick; Mr. F. Nicklin, of Little River, and Mr. George Weaver, of Sandwick.

There were two contestants in the junior event, which J. Salts won with a score of eighty-six points, Edward Farling being second. The grant from the department was considerably augmented by the generosity of local business men, which provided good prizes for the winners. The Ladies' Auxiliary provided an acceptable lunch.

Comox Cow Testing Results for Month

COURTENAY, Nov. 1.—On account of the mild weather and a continuation of good pasturage, dairy herds in the Comox Valley continue to show good results.

Following is a list of cows in the Comox Valley Cow-Testing Association that gave 50 lbs. or more of butterfat for October, 1929:

- (38) Sophie, Sunbeams, Oxford, Jersey, purebred; 1,435 lbs. milk; 68.8 lbs. fat; Miss M. M. J. Hardy.
- (43) Lucille, Jersey grade; 1,181 lbs. milk; 58.6 lbs. fat; A. Randall.
- (85) Goldie, Jersey grade; 1,178 lbs. milk; 54.1 lbs. fat; J. Genge.
- (204) Bluebell, Shorthorn-Holstein; 1,342 lbs. milk; 52.3 lbs. fat; J. Higginson.
- (36) Tiny, Jersey grade; 926 lbs. milk; 51.8 lbs. fat; T. Michail.
- (10) Darkie, Jersey grade; 1,249 lbs. milk; 51.2 lbs. fat; W. E. Mantle.
- (41) Princess, Holstein grade; 1,232 lbs. milk; 51.1 lbs. fat; J. Higginson.
- (66) Belle, Jersey grade; 936 lbs. milk; 50.6 lbs. fat; J. Genge.
- (150) Kitty, Holstein grade; 1,407 lbs. milk; 50.6 lbs. fat; J. Higginson.

HELP KIDNEYS BY DRINKING MORE WATER

Take Salts to Flush Kidneys and Help Neutralize Irritating Acids

Kidney and bladder irritations are the result from acidity, says a noted authority. The kidneys help filter this acid from the blood and pass it on to the bladder, where it may remain to irritate and inflame, causing a burning, scalding sensation, or setting up an irritation at the neck of the bladder, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night. The sufferer is in constant dread; the water passes sometimes with a scalding sensation and is very profuse; again, there is difficulty in voiding it. Bladder weakness, most folks call it because they can't control urination. While it is extremely annoying and sometimes very painful, this is often one of the most simple ailments to overcome. Begin drinking lots of good water, also get about four ounces of Jad Salts from your pharmacist, and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast. Continue this for two or three days. This will help neutralize the acids in the system as they no longer are a source of irritation to the bladder and urinary organs, which then set normal again. Jad Salts is inexpensive, and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is used by thousands of folks who are subject to urinary disorders caused by acid irritation. Jad Salts causes no bad effects whatever. Here you have a pleasant, agreeable, health-giving drink which may quickly relieve your bladder irritation. (Adv.)

old gave 45 lbs. or more butterfat for the month:

(67) Polly, Jersey grade; 1,469 lbs. milk; 50.7 lbs. fat; Miss M. M. J. Hardy.

The undermentioned two-year-old gave 40 lbs. or more butterfat for the month:

(41) Nigger, Jersey-Holstein; 1,072 lbs. milk; 46 lbs. fat; J. Higginson.

Figures in brackets indicate number of days since freshening.

Conservatives Of Ward Six Hold Social

BRENTWOOD, Nov. 2.—A successful card party and social was held in the West Saanich Institute hall on Friday evening, under the auspices of the Conservative Association of Ward Six, Saanich.

About one hundred and fifty guests were present, including Hon. William Atkinson and Mrs. Atkinson. Mr. W. O. Wallace acted as chairman and was assisted by the following committee: Messrs. H. Rountree, W. Kersey, Lawrie and J. H. Sutton. During the evening Mrs. Spurr and Mrs. Corbett delighted the audience with their vocal solos, and Mr. Gager gave a clever feminine impersonation. The wheel of chance run by Messrs. Rountree and P. Sutton did a brisk business, and the turkey raffle was won by Mr. A. Bickford.

Mrs. Atkinson, assisted by Mrs. Wallace and Mrs. Kersey, presented the prizes. A bag of carrots went to the Minister of Agriculture, Mrs. J. Carrier won the lucky prize for the "Tollie Chair."

At the close of the game refreshments were served, and dancing followed, excellent music being supplied by Jacklin's orchestra.

The prizes for cards went to the following: First, with twenty-six discs, Mrs. Shotbolt, Mr. W. R. Shotbolt and Mr. and Mrs. J. Osborne; second (cut and lost for first), Mrs. W. Atkinson, Miss G. Hanson, Mr. T. Walker and Mr. A. E. Hole; third, with twenty-five discs, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Sutton, Mrs. F. Goodwin and Mr. P. Sutton.

Hall at Colwood To Be Improved

COLWOOD, Nov. 2.—A joint meeting of the Colwood Hall Committee and the Women's Institute was recently held for the purpose of considering the strengthening of the hall structure and improving the accommodation. The purpose of the Hall Committee to erect an annex on the east side was explained by Mr. J. Hopwood and discussed. The Women's Institute unanimously agreed to donate a further sum of money to the work, which will be placed in the hands of Messrs. J. Antolius. The work will entail an expenditure of nearly $500, but it is the belief of the committee that the community will support their efforts and a start will be made on November 4. During the work no inconvenience will be felt by users of the hall in any way.

SERVICE AT COLWOOD

COLWOOD, Nov. 2.—Service will be held in St. John's Church on Sunday, at 11 o'clock.

Ragged Mountain Is Climbers' Objective

An expedition to the top of Ragged Mountain was made yesterday by twelve members of the Vancouver Island section of the Alpine Club who went out early in the morning to the Sooke district, and an additional twenty or more members followed in the afternoon and took a shorter hike in the hills above the Sooke River. The party which went out in the morning, under Mr. C. L. Harrison's guidance, departed from the motor cars at the Seventeen-Mile House about half-past ten o'clock, and made the ascent of Ragged Mountain via country which introduced some good rock work, requiring the use of the rope. The summit was reached about one o'clock, in time for luncheon, immediately after which the descent was begun. By the route chosen it required the remainder of the afternoon to get back to Seventeen-Mile House, with a brief stop at Olint Lake for tea. Driving to the Belvedere Hotel, these climbers joined the afternoon party at dinner, a cheerful affair, which was followed by an informal sing-song and dance. A number of the songs which are to be sung at the Alpine Club entertainment at the Chamber of Commerce on Friday, November 22, were rehearsed in promising fashion before the gathering adjourned.

Hallowe'en Fun
Hallowe'en was a festive time in this city this year. The downtown streets were carnival gay with crowds of children trotting happily about in fancy costumes, with masks. Besides their costumes they were in carnival mood, and were content in the majority of cases to ignore the malicious spirit. In the adjoining residential districts bands of children visited homes for Hallowe'en gifts of pennies and food.

Socially, Hallowe'en was a very gay time with numerous dances taking place, including those at Shaughnessy and Marine Golf Clubs, which were preceded by dinner parties. Mrs. W. E. Williamson entertained at a "spooky" supper party for her daughters, Misses Enid and Claire, and a jolly party was given at the Bonnycastle home.

when the hostesses were Miss Anne Bonnycastle, Miss Alice Sharpe and Miss Maude Haywood.

Hostess at Reception
Mrs. J. B. Pattullo entertained at a large reception in honor of Mr. Pattullo's niece, Mrs. Hartley Zimmerman, who, with her husband, will make her home here, recently having left Toronto. The prettily arranged tea table was presided over by Mrs. Guy Kirkpatrick, Mrs. St. John Montzambert, Mrs. J. H. Bushnell, Mrs. C. D. Macaulay, of Dawson, Mrs. W. C. Woodward and Mrs. J. A. Clark cut the ices, and assisting the hostess serving were Mrs. Charles Beuching, Mrs. Jack Rose, Mrs. Stuart Rose, Mrs. Hugh Russell, Mrs. Cline and Miss Panta Tait.

Entertainers Friends
On Tuesday evening Mrs. Montagu Furber entertained at dinner when guests included Major and Mrs. E. C. Sweeney, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Hobday, Mrs. W. Wilnot, Mr. and Mrs. Spencer, Mr. and Mrs. Martin Griffin, Mr. and Mrs. T. Havemeyer, Mrs. Schofield, Mrs. W. K. Boulton, Mrs. E. A. Spring, Miss Ruth MacLean, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Bridge Hosts Honoring Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Scott, Miss Elizabeth Buckfield and her mother, Mrs. Buckfield, entertained at bridge on Wednesday evening. Guests included Mrs. S. D. Scott, Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Scott, Dr. and Mrs. Robert Telford, Mr. and Mrs. George Spencer, Dr. and Mrs. Lyle Telford, Dr. and Mrs. Clark.

Wealthy M.P. and Wife

Sir Oswald Mosley, Wealthy Young Labor Member of the British Parliament, Is Seen Here With His Wife, Formerly Lady Cynthia Curzon, Daughter of the Noted British Statesman.

Return Here
Mrs. Brunswick Shaw and her son, William, have returned to this city from the East, where they spent some time in Toronto with the former's sister, Madame Fahey, and later visited relatives in New Brunswick. They are visiting Mrs. Laurin until they return to their home in Victoria.

For Mrs. Martin
Mrs. Alexis Martin, who has been spending the past two weeks with Mrs. Harold B. Robertson, was the guest of honor at an informal little tea party given by Mrs. Harry Bray on Friday afternoon on Marine Drive. Mrs. Martin and Mrs. Robertson left on Friday evening for Victoria.

From Victoria
Mrs. Eustace Saville of Victoria, is visiting her sister, Mrs. Kenneth Barr, who entertained in her honor on Thursday evening at mah jong at her home in Point Grey.

James Island Roberts
Miss Christine Robertson, of Victoria, is a guest of Miss Zoe Milsted.

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Dakin left on Friday for a holiday to be spent visiting their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. William Dakin, of Oakland, Calif., and other friends in Los Angeles.

On Thursday evening, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Kehn were at home at a very jolly Hallowe'en party. The guests were Misses Barbara Ford, Barbara Peirce, Nan Thompson, Mrs. Richards, Mr. F. Bowley Turner and Mr. Isaac Dixon, and they awarded the prizes to the following children: Baby prize, Patricia Gibson, bride cake, best dressed boy, Alec Lynch; best comic boy's, Wallace and William Bond, the Gold Dust Twins; best dressed girl, Gracie Jennison, Victorian lady; girls' comic, Nancy Christie, black cat. Araby; Douglas Row, Captain Kidd, a pirate bold; Gordon Row, Snowman; Patricia Gibson, bride cake; Arnold Row, naval officer; Eleanor Robb, rainbow fairy; William Kidd, Farmer's Boy; Raymond Emmens, yellow and black pierrot; Hazel McPhee, Autumn; Audrey McPhee, gipsy; George McPhee, pirate; Winnie Watson, pink and blue pierrette; Alec Lynch, flapper of 1929; Zoe Milsted, tap dancer; Trevor Milsted, Ye Ancient Order of Froth Blowers; Lois Rivers, junior pierrette; Wallace and Billy Bond, Gold Dust Twins; Eva Barrie, ballet girl; Mary Goldie, Christmas tree; Kathleen Goldie, harlequin; David Goldie, clown; Tommy Goldie, gollwig; Gwelda Dorrybot, ballet girl; Betty Troup, flowers; Billy Troup, candlestick; Edith Garside, pierrette; Bertram Garside, pirate; Peggy Allen, lady of 1837; Audrey MacNaughton, Miss Maudie; Thelma Thompson, Boy Scout; Mae Thompson, black and white pierrette; Florrie Garside, daffodil; Betty Wilnot, colleen; Irene Wilnot, bluish rose; David Shepherd, witch; Gordon Inglis, pierrot; Olive Inglis, butterfly; Gracie Jennison, early Victorian lady; Lulu Jennison, pirate; Charlie Jennison, sack of potatoes.

Parties at Chemainus
On Friday, Mrs. E. M. Cook entertained at a charmingly arranged farewell party in honor of Mrs. Gregory, who is leaving shortly for Guelph, Ont., where she will join her husband. The reception rooms were beautifully decorated with Autumn leaves and flowers, the supper table having marginals as a centerpiece. A delightful evening of music and games was spent, the following guests being present: Mrs. Gregory, Mrs. Bill, Mrs. P. Wyllie, Mrs. Oliver Beacham, Mrs. Colin McInnes, Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Stevens, Mrs. Troup, Sr., Mr. and Mrs. Bouleau.

On Thursday evening the Chemainus Public School held a most successful card party in the Recreation Club. Both bridge and whist were played, there being twenty tables altogether. Following were the bridge prize winners: Ladies, 1, Mrs. Waldon; 2, Mrs. T. McEwan; consolation, Mrs. N. T. Lang; Gentlemen, 1, Mr. R. B. Waldon; 2, Mr. Allan Porter; consolation, Mrs. Laidlaw, playing as gentleman. In whist the following won: Ladies, 1, Mrs. W. Wyllie; 2, Miss Hazel Dwyer; consolation, Mrs. McInnes; Gentlemen, 1, Mrs. Thom; 2, Mr. Arthur Dwyer; consolation, Mr. Marshall. An excellent supper was served in the small hall. The tables, which had been set and decorated by the school children, being unusually attractive with their Hallowe'en favors, colored pumpkins and cleverly and artistically contrived candles and shades. The card tables also had these exceedingly effective shades on their individual canopies. Amongst those present were Mr. and Mrs. James Adams, Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Ross, Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Waldon, Mr. and Mrs. E. Watts, Mr. and Mrs. Phillips, Mr. and Mrs. V. G. Pritchard, Mr. and Mrs. Baker, Mr. and Mrs. Cherrington, Mr. and Mrs. McInnes, Mr. and Mrs. Whan, Mr. and Mrs. Rice, Messrs. Colquitz Personals
Mr. T. W. Hall, who recently received the appointment of Inspector of Public Schools, left on Thursday for Kamloops to commence his new duties.

Miss Hannah Barr left on Friday to visit her mother, who at present is ill in Nanaimo.

Mr. E. P. (Ted) Cummins left on Saturday for Vancouver, where he will visit his parents.

Party at Colwood
The weekly card party held in the Colwood Hall on Wednesday last was attended by a good number of players.

Mrs. Haggard and Mr. T. Parker made the highest score and Miss C. Godfrey and Mr. A. Godfrey received the consolation prizes. As there is still room for players, any resident or visiting players of five hundred will be welcome any Wednesday. Play will start at 8 o'clock.

WELSH SOCIETY
The regular monthly meeting of the Victoria Cymrodon Society was held on Friday evening in St. David's Hall, 1414 Douglas Street, with Mr. president, R. Thomas, in the chair. A programme was much enjoyed, to which the following contributed: Mrs. Rhonwen Mason, Miss Jessie Jones, A.L.C.M., Miss Florence Jones, Miss Helen Thomas, Mr. and Mrs. O. Meredith Petch, Mr. George Tate, Master Eddie Lewis, Mrs. J. Hobden and Miss Lila Depnstedt; also a group of songs by Miss Evelyn Vallant, of the Victoria School of Expression. A vote of thanks to the artists, moved by Secretary W. H. Gardner and seconded by Mr. J. C. Williams, was enthusiastically adopted. Mrs. W. Jones, the convener of the forthcoming bazaar, reported progress. Refreshments were prepared by Mrs. T. C. Jones and Mrs. Bowden.

Weddings
MONCRIEF-HUGHES
At the manse of the Cumberland United Church, with the pastor, Rev. J. R. Hewitt, officiating, Helen Margaret, daughter of Mr. Ed. Hughes, was united in the holy bonds of matrimony to Joseph Moncrief. The ceremony was of a very quiet nature, the only persons present being the witnesses, Mr. E. Hughes and Mrs. Kenmare. Following the ceremony Mrs. Kenmare held a reception at her home, only immediate relatives and friends being present.

Cumberland Social

The largest and jolliest crowd that ever held the boards at the Hallowe'en dance hall turned out on Thursday night for the annual hayseed ball of the Cumberland Welsh Society, the invitation, "Be a Hayseed," truly meeting with tremendous response. Visitors attended from all parts of the district and the floor remained crowded till the last strains of "God Save the King." The spirit of Hallowe'en was abroad, spectators and dancers alike joining in the revelry. The hall itself presented a pretty scene, fruits and vegetables being appropriately used in the decorations, augmented by Hallowe'en symbols, cats, witches and jack-o'-lanterns. The orchestra stand was placed in the centre of the floor, effectively decorated in the prevailing colors and occupied by the Maple Leaf five-piece orchestra, which excelled itself in the rendering of snappy dance hits, both new and old. Judges of the prize winners were confronted with a difficult task and it was late before these were finally decided upon. Following were awarded prizes: First, hayseed couple, Mrs. Fraser Watson and Mrs. S. Miller; second, Mrs. A. Walker and Mrs. R. A. Robertson; third, Misses Annie Young and Ash; fourth, Mrs. J. Bond and Mrs. K. Weir; fifth, Misses Annie Brown and Viola Reese; sixth, Mrs. Matt Stewart and Mrs. A. Sommerville; seventh, Mrs. J. Reese and Miss M. Struthers; best group, Mrs. S. Davis, Misses Hunden and Mitchell; special prize, Mrs. J. D. Davis, Miss Josephine Welsh and Mrs. J. H. Cameron.

The athletic fund of the Cumberland High School received a decided boost on Thursday evening through the holding of a very successful Hallowe'en tea in the school. Tea was served at sixteen tables, each table being beautifully decorated with the prevailing Hallowe'en colors and decorative cats, witches, etc. Mesdames MacKinnon, Partridge and Shennae assisted the girls of the high school in serving refreshments, pouring tea at a long table decorated with chrysanthemums and Autumn leaves, and the waitresses wore dainty aprons which represented pumpkins and cats, making it truly look like a real Hallowe'en. The card table reported a good business and the stall, in charge of Misses Margaret Herd and A. Brown, was appropriately decorated to represent a huge pumpkin. Home cooking stall holders also reported a successful afternoon and music from a loaned radio provided the guests with a great deal of enjoyment. A sum of approximately $70 was realized from the tea and this sum will go to the athletic fund.

Mr. and Edward W. Bickle, accompanied by their daughter, Mrs. C. Drader, of California, returned to Cumberland on Thursday.

Mr. K. C. Wiles, of Vancouver, who has joined the staff of the Courtenay Free Press, was a visitor to Cumberland on Thursday.

Mr. Barnes and Mr. Stephenson, representatives of moving picture concerns, visited Cumberland on Thursday.

Fine Entertainment
Members of the Victoria West Brotherhood and their friends filled Stanley's Hall on Hallowe'en, and the evening was spent in cards, dancing, games and musical programme.

The following artists contributed to the programme, which was arranged by Mrs. Langley: Hallowe'en dance, Miss Ruby Poyer, novelty and clog dances, Petty Officer H. Nuttall; song and Dutch dance, Miss McGarvey; recitation, Mr. A. Semple; humorous sketch, Mrs. A. Semple and Mr. R. Colby; songs, Miss May Lewis.

Mrs. B. Temple won the weight-lifting competition, Mrs. W. Wallace the advertising competition, and Mrs. F. Bland the bag competition.

Mrs. Langley, Mr. H. Richmond and Mr. R. J. Ross furnished a lively programme of dance numbers during the evening. Refreshments were served by the ladies.

PERPETUAL BENEFIT

Dundee Starts Abolishing Slums Under Uniquely Satisfactory Rebuilding Scheme

A great housing scheme has been made possible in Dundee through the generosity of a native of the city, Robert Fleming, who has donated $155,000 for the rehousing of the slum dwellers. Some 500 houses are to be built to accommodate about 1,500 people at present living in houses condemned as unfit for human habitation. The slums from which they come will be abolished. The rents of the new houses are proportionate to the ability to pay. The Duchess of York laid the foundation stone of the "Fleming Trust Housing Scheme" recently. The founder was present at the ceremony and was later honored by the city when he was made a burgess. In an interesting speech he recalled the Dundee of his boyhood when he launched out on a business career at the age of thirteen years, over seventy years ago. Lord Provost High expressed the gratitude of the town to Mr. Fleming, who, he said, has enabled the town to work out its economic salvation. The scheme was so skillfully conceived and financed that it would go on for all time on its beneficent course.

REFOREST PALESTINE

Lord Metcalf Reports Good Progress Made in Planting Balfour Tract

Two hundred and eighty thousand trees have been planted in the Balfour Forest in Palestine under the reforestation plan of the Jewish national fund. In reporting on the present status of the forest, Lord

Metcalf declared that it was undesirable at this time, owing to the Palestine disturbances, to proceed with the planting, but he hoped that within the coming year the entire forest area would be planted.

A London Letter

City Changing So That It Will Soon Be Unrecognizable—Canadian Artists Win Successes—Delegates to Imperial Press Conference to Make Tour of Provinces—Women's Institutes Increase—New Theatres—At the Picture Galleries.

By ELIZABETH MONTIZAMBERT

LONDON, Oct. 17.—(By Mail)—Autumn has come to London, you can tell that by the drifts of withered leaves in Lansdowne Passage and by the pageant of dahlias beside Victoria Gate on the north side of Hyde Park, but the glorious sunshine of the last few days has been sufficiently Summerlike to mislead many people, so there is the usual crop of colds and influenza.

Some mysterious alchemy is at work, threatening to transform this great city till a few years' absence would make it almost unrecognizable. Chelsea, as one knew it ten years ago, has almost disappeared and much of what is left is threatened, the great Squares, Portman and Grosvenor and Berkeley Square, once entirely tenanted by private people, have had their character changed by huge blocks of flats and shops with brilliantly-hued doors. Even the houses that remain seem to change their owners on a visit to the Strand has always been the Lancet office, on the corner of Bedford Street, a sooty, brick building, out of which is issued each week the great medical paper that finds its way all over the world. The Lancet has moved to more aesthetic quarters in the Adelphi, that romantic quadrangle whose very name commemorates the mutual affection of the four brothers who built it—John, Robert, James and Adam.

Last night Sir Squire Spragg, the editor, gave an informal reception in the new offices at 7 Adam Street, when a very distinguished company assembled to see the charming old house, with lovely mouldings and carved mantelpieces, and listen to the music of the Dolmetsch Trio.

CANADIAN TALENT IN LONDON Last week there was the Hart House Quartette, and two or three nights ago pretty, graceful Madame Dusseau sang herself into the hearts of her audience in the Wigmore Hall with a very exciting programme of French, English and German songs. Besides the natural beauty of her voice and the excellent production, she charmed by her individuality and the unexpected way she interpreted well-known songs so as to give them fresh meaning. Debussy's "En Sourdine," for example, was taken at a quicker pace and in a lower tone than that in which one usually hears it given and the same quality of originality was unconsciously imparted to such familiar songs as the French-Canadian folk songs, and Warlock's setting to Shakespeare's "Pretty Ring Time."

The well-filled hall contained many Canadians, including Sir George and Lady Kirkpatrick, Mr. Percival Ridout and his daughter, Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Peacock and a party of friends, Mrs. Howard Willis, Mrs. Gavin Ogilvie and Colonel Grasset, Mrs. Russell Brown, Mrs. Hay, of Hamilton, and Mr. Leslie Holmes.

Before leaving for Canada next week to fill a number of concert engagements, Mme. Dusseau will make some records of German lieder, which she worked at with Nikolai at Deauville last Summer, and the beautiful Medtner songs which she studied with the composer.

Another young ambassador from Canada is Miss Virginia McLean, that talented young pianist whose work is steadily gaining more and more recognition over here. Her next London recital will be given at the Wigmore Hall on November 13, and will be followed by a recital at Bognor and a few days later by a broadcasting programme from 2LO.

Next week Miss McLean is playing for the League of Arts at one of those charming concerts which they give at the Victoria and Albert Museum.

The promise shown by that remarkable trio of little girls who now call themselves the Canadian Trio, as they found that another "Nelson Trio" was in existence, is being so well maintained that they are to give a public recital at the Wigmore Hall on the 29th.

Another Canadian whose newly-adopted country may be very proud of her is Odette de Foras, who has been steadily increasing her reputation as an opera singer ever since she was chosen from many applicants to sing some of the smaller roles with the famous Covent Garden Opera Company. At the moment, this gifted young singer from Alberta is singing the leading roles in "Turandot," "Madame Butterfly" and "Pagliacci" in Glasgow while on tour, with pronounced success.

Her beautiful voice will be heard in London on October 30, when she returns to take part in a concert at the Aeolian Hall, when Mr. Gordon Bryan will be the pianist. Miss de Foras, though born in France, has spent nearly all her life on her father's ranch in Alberta, but it was after the death of the late Viscount de Foras that she took out papers of Canadian nationality. Her sister, it will be remembered, died a victim to her devotion to duty while nursing with the Canadian forces during the war.

IMPERIAL PRESS CONFERENCE Plans are already being prepared for the tours to be taken by the overseas delegates to the fourth Imperial Press Conference. Judging by the number of places to be visited, the 100 delegates, twenty-four of whom will be Canadians, they will do an extraordinary amount of intensive traveling packed into twelve days. The provincial tour, as outlined at present, will include visits to Liverpool, Harrogate, York, Buxton, Leamington, passing such famous places as Hardwick Hall, Chatsworth, Derby, Burton-on-Trent, Lichfield, Kenilworth, etc. From Leamington they will visit Stratford-on-Avon, and after four days in which to recuperate in London they will start on a Scottish tour, including Glasgow, Edinburgh, Loch Lomond and Kilmorie, the Trossachs and Glenaeags.

WOMEN'S INSTITUTES I remember being very enthusiastic last year over the annual exhibition of handicraft work held by the Women's Institutes from all over England in the Imperial Institute.

This year the work shown is even better. The centre of attraction, of course, was the lovely co-operative bedspread worked and offered to the Queen by members of the Women's Institute in every county of England and Wales.

It was worked in a Queen Anne pattern, with small sprays of flowers done in yellow silk chain stitch in the centre of diamond-shaped pieces of parchment-colored linen, afterwards joined together so skillfully that the seams were invisible. In the centre were the royal crown and monogram.

But the exhibits I liked best were the exquisite patchwork quilts. One of them was worked with a small flowered design on a background of octagonal pieces of apple-green linen. The most handsome was made of oval pieces of hand-printed linen overlapping each other, worked by Lady Lister.

The leather work, basketry, knitted articles, rugs and carved toys were all equally good, and since this excellent organization came over from Canada it is interesting to know that in the last fourteen years over 4,000 institutes have been started in England and Wales, with a membership of over a quarter of a million. A novel feature this year was the exhibition of furnished rooms, made co-operatively by W.I. members.

I hear that there is a movement afoot in other quarters to start a similar organization for townfolk. It would be an amusing and profitable experience to bring together people who live in boarding houses and those who frequent only "private hotels," and their furnishings in the same neighborhood, and teach how to make gloves and rush baskets.

It is a comforting thought to many simple folk that in a few hundred years there will be no great exhibitions of the art of today, such as the collection of eighteenth century art now held in Brussels, because modern artists do not prepare their own paints, but use so many mixtures from so many makers that in a few decades their work begins to crack. I am sure this idea must comfort the pink-faced old lady who came up to me at the private view of the Leicester Galleries and, too deeply moved to reflect that she was actually talking to a stranger, murmured, "Isn't it awful!" Yet the exhibition of Mr.

Eric Kennington's sculpture and Mr. Armstrong's paintings was extremely interesting, for they are painting and carving the sort of decoration we shall have to use if we adopt ultra-modern architecture and ultra-modern furniture and upholstery. It would be unthinkable to hang a Constable or a Romney in the sort of room that one now sees advertised, whereas one can well imagine Armstrong's golden brown "Library" enhancing a room with metal furniture, even though the horrified old lady murmured, "Why get a book with no clothes on?"

Eric Kennington's war pictures are well known to Canadians. His sculpture in brass, bronze, marble and stone is distinctly original. I like best "A Nun's Head," in copper, giving an unexplainable impression of piety, even though the face had been eliminated till there was nothing but a smooth plane. A pair of hands folded in prayer and exquisitely carved, was among the most pleasing sculptures in this exhibition.

Miss Frances Dobie's engagement to Sir Anthony Lindsey-Hogg seems to have surprised few of her friends. She will add yet another to the long list of Montreal girls who have married here, including Miss Rachel Allan, the Misses Cook, Miss MacKenzie and Miss Dobie's own sister, Mrs. Sacheverell Sitwell.

At the private view of the new British talking film, "Dark Red Roses," Miss Dobie, who plays the principal role, was present with her fiancée, who could admire from a double point of view the attractive voice and beautiful face of this young Canadian girl.

It hardly looks as if the speaking cinemas would kill the theatre, because two more new theatres will soon be opened in London. One is the Duchess Theatre, in Catherine Street, between the Strand and Drury Lane Theatres, the other, which will probably be the smallest in London, is in New Compton Street, off the Charing Cross Road. It will be called the Players Theatre.

AGED MEN WILL BE ENTERTAINED

Toc H to Give Concert at Home Tomorrow—Lamp Is Set Aglow in Moose Jaw Service

Instead of holding its regular meeting of the "O P" tomorrow night, Toc H will go in a body to the Old Men's Home, 2551 Cadboro Bay Road, where they will put on a concert for the residents of the institution. Toc H members will meet at the Home at 7:45 o'clock, and the evening's entertainment will start promptly at 8. Members will also bring special refreshments.

The Toc H organization in Victoria has received the following clipping appearing in a recent issue of The Saskatoon Star-Phoenix of a Toc H ceremony in Moose Jaw:

"While hundreds of persons filled St. John's Anglican Church in Moose Sunday afternoon, a small Babylonian lamp, emblematic of the spirit of a world-wide organization, was lighted for the first time in Saskatchewan by His Honor H. W. Newlands, Lieutenant-Governor of the Province.

"This lamp, a lamp of maintenance, was first lighted last April by H.R.H. the Prince of Wales in Albert Hall, London, England, for the Moose Jaw branch of Toc H. Today was the occasion of its dedication to William Robert Green, a Moose Jaw boy who fell during the war, and to other Elder Brethren, Toc H's name for the men who sacrificed their lives.

"At a meeting held before the public service, His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor was received into the order with solemn ceremonial, high officers from the Winnipeg branch assisting in the installation. The church was filled to capacity.

"Distinguished persons present at the ceremony included: Miss Newlands; Colonel R. H. Webb, former Mayor of Winnipeg; D. C. Coleman, Vice-president Western lines, Canadian Pacific Railway, Winnipeg; Major Allard, Regina, and Rev. Mr. Ragge, rector of All Saints', Winnipeg, and Canada's Toc H soccer (association) padre.

Maid: "The furniture man is here."

Mistress: "I'll see him in a minute. Tell him to take a chair."

Maid: "I did, but he said he would start with the piano and radio!"

Captain Dreyfus Still to Be Seen On Paris Streets

PARIS, Nov. 2.—Twelve o'clock noon. The boulevards are choked with people. Paris is seething with daily, ever-renewed turmoil. It is the hour of the apertif.

At the terrace of a large cafe on the Boulevard de Courcelles, a slight, unassuming old man is looking between chairs and tables to the very edge of the sidewalk, filled with noisy but slow drinkers. Finally, he settles into an unobtrusive seat.

No one pays the slightest attention to him, yet twenty-five years ago this man's appearance on the boulevards would have created a riot. Cabinets tumbled, erstwhile friends fought duels, homes were wrecked and even the republican structure of France was shaken at mention of the little old man's name. Slipping his strawberry-flavored water unrecogized, unnoticed, is former Captain Alfred Dreyfus, of Paris, Rennes and Devil's Island.

Charges of high treason, it was led by the "Tiger," Clemenceau, then a newspaper owner, half of France clamored for revision of the sentence which had sent the former army officer to Devil's Island for life. The other half of France opposed revision.

"Colonel Dreyfus, one word, please!" the correspondent calls out as he follows the little man whose exit from the crowded terrace had been as inconspicuous as his entrance. Dreyfus was rehabilitated, served in the French army throughout the war and retired with the rank of lieutenant-colonel. Not a muscle moved in the wrinkled face that turned upon the stranger, and a voice devoid of the slightest intonation of annoyance or any other emotion, said, when the correspondent explained his mission, how did the Colonel spend his time, what were his hobbies and his work.

"I am a private citizen and as such entitled to privacy. I should appreciate it if you would respect it," Dreyfus and the correspondent, exchanging not another word, walked about a hundred yards down a side street. There the Colonel saluted, a very civilian salute, and entered a new apartment house.

On the third floor of this house, in the fashionable sixteenth ward of Paris, Colonel Dreyfus, his wife and two young children, make their home.

He seldom receives callers. His chief diversion of a Sunday consists in strolling through the Parc Monceau with his wife and children. He never attends a theatre. He has had a tragedy of his own, and he does not care for comedy.

MUSIC TESTS HELD FOR FRETTED INSTRUMENT USERS

The following pupils of Madame Lillian Atfield successfully passed the "A" Grade tests on the mandolin, banjo and guitar, with total marks gained by each candidate as shown: Mandolin—Grace Atfield, 110; R. McQuarrie, 105; Winnifred Millard, 105; Rose Botell, 95; Joe Mayar, 90. Banjo—Jack Nelligan, 105; Jean Menzies, 100; Robert Patrick, 85; Lars Larsen, 85. Steel Guitar—Annie Wilderspin, 105, Edie Snider, 105; Winnie Ingalls, 105. Standard Guitar—Elsie Snider, 105.

The examinations, which were held in the B.C. Academy of Music, Broughton Street, were conducted by Mr. Fletcher, of Vancouver, who is the B.M.O. examiner for British Columbia. Mr. Fletcher expressed himself as being well pleased with the general theoretical and practical knowledge displayed by the pupils, particularly in view of this being the first occasion in which examinations on the fretted instruments have been conducted in Victoria.

A dramatic story can be told in very few words. A small boy returned home one evening, and when his mother asked why his hand was bleeding, he said: "Those were awful sharp teeth Tommy had."

SEVENTEENTH ANNIVERSARY SALE OF FURNITURE

Seventeen Years Ago

October, 1912
Pandora Ave.

Only by giving utmost in value, having an immense stock of carefully selected house furnishings, and giving courteous service, have we attained to our present proportions. We feel, however, there are yet people in Victoria not acquainted with our store, and it is for this reason that we hold an ANNIVERSARY SALE. Prices have been cut to a very fine margin, compelling the stranger to come in, also enticing our friends to renew acquaintance. We believe this is the most effective way of advertising (Prices talk!) and we firmly believe the values quoted below will do all we anticipate. Read every item; every offering is a bargain. Terms arranged at sale prices—no interest or extras whatever.

Nachman Inner-Spring Mattress

We are often asked what are spring-filled mattresses? They are mattresses filled with springs, just soft enough to conform to the shape of the body, allowing the spine, which is the centre of the nervous system, to lie straight, which means utmost nerve rest as well as bodily comfort. These springs are covered top and bottom with a layer of springy white felt, the whole being covered in the very best of tickings with air vents all round the edge, making it extremely sanitary. Doctors are strongly recommending this mattress for nervous patients, or for those who have much nervous strain in their daily occupations. If you once try this sleep outfit you will never be without one again. Sleep correctly and preserve your youth and energy.

EARLY HISTORY OF PROVINCE UNDER REVIEW

B.C. Historical Association's Proceedings for Past Four Years to Be Published at Early Date

ROMANTIC STORY OF JAMES STRANGE

Members of the British Columbia Historical Association and many others who follow the proceedings of the society are looking forward with interest to the publication of the report of their proceedings for the past four years, which is shortly to come off the Provincial Government press. The report gains interest this year from the fact that nothing has been published by the society for such a long period, owing chiefly, as the editor, Mr. Donald Fraser, explains in his introduction, to the depleted state of the treasury. But the reader will find the full text of some of the most interesting addresses which have been given since 1925, and in his preface notes the editor refers also to some of the special celebrations and commemorative ceremonies which have been held under the auspices of the society.

Among these latter he notes the placing of the bronze tablet by the society in the wall of the Miller Court Building on the site of the northeast bastion of the old Fort

Your Little Girl Needs Music!

Music can make your little one a happier girl, and later, a happier, more accomplished woman. It can give her a means of self-expression, of entertaining her friends and family, and can bring her much enjoyment as she learns to appreciate and love fine music. Send her to any good teacher, and see that she is entered for the local examinations of the Faculty of Music of McGill University. These examinations take place each Spring in numerous cities throughout Canada, and will help you to judge her progress and ability; diplomas are granted to successful candidates. For full information, apply to the Secretary of the Faculty of Music of McGill University, Montreal, or to the local Secretary, Dr. J. E. Watson, 1002 Fort Street, Victoria.

New Owner Takes Control

MR. G. W. ROBINSON

Mr. G. W. Robinson, vice-president of the Canadian Wheelmen's Association and secretary of the Victoria Bicycle Club, has taken over the sporting goods business of Harris & Smith, who has had a wide range of experience in repair work, will be foreman of the mechanical department.

Victoria, corner of Government and Bastion Streets, and the cairn at Leech River, Vancouver Island, commemorating the excitement which took place with the discovery of gold there in 1864. Among the gatherings of old-timers held under the auspices of the society was that in celebration of the birthday of British Columbia, March 11, 1860, when Governor Blanshard, at Victoria, read the proclamation of his appointment as Governor of the Colony of Vancouver Island. Since the publication of the last report the society had also collaborated with the University Women's Club in an excursion to Roche Harbor, San Juan Island, when Hon. Mr. Justice Martin had delivered an eloquent address on the British and American occupation of that territory.

Mr. Fraser pays a warm tribute to the Provincial Archives Department for the assistance in preparing records of the early pioneers while first-hand information was still available, with special reference to the activities of the provincial archivist, Mr. John Hosie, and Miss Russell and Mrs. Cree.

HYDROGRAPHIC SURVEYS

In his paper on the hydrographic survey of the Northwest Coast of British North America, given before the society in January, 1926, Captain H. D. Parizeau, officer in charge of this work, gave a splendid description of the work of the surveys of which he had charge, as well as a history of such activities since the time of the Spaniards, and in conclusion asked the society for assistance in the suitable naming of geographical features along the Coast. The names of pioneers and old residents, particularly when intimately associated with the locality concerned, were preferred.

Attached to Captain Parizeau's paper in the report is found a very interesting chart, giving in detail and under their specific headings, the results of the several classes of surveys as affecting discovery, exploration, etc., and beginning with Sir Francis Drake's voyage of 1579 in the Golden Hind, and that of Juan de Fuca (Apostolos Valeriano) in 1592. From this it will be found that in the period 1592-1774 there were no recorded voyages in these seas, but between Juan Perez's voyage of 1774 in the corvette Santiago and 1794 the year in which Captain George Vancouver visited this Coast in the Discovery and Lieutenant William Robert Broughton in the Chatham, there were no less than twenty-eight other voyages of exploration in these Northern Pacific waters.

The period from 1795 to 1845 is called the "second period" of the "Dark Ages" so far as hydrographic survey is concerned, for most of the adventures of these shores during that period came by land; Sir Alexander Mackenzie, in 1792; Simon Fraser, 1808; David Thompson, 1810, and the same year John Jacob Astor established a fur trading post at Astoria, at the mouth of the Columbia, or emissaries came for the sole purpose of establishing Hudson's Bay Company forts on the coast. In 1846, with the arrival of "Strange is generally and incorrectly referred to as the supercargo on the fur-trading expedition consisting of the ships Captain Cook and the Experiment, commanded respectively by Captains Laurie and Guise. But Strange was no supercargo. He was the instigator, the inspiration, the soul of the whole ill-fated expedition to the Northwest Coast of America. In 1786, from its inception to its conclusion," Mr. Hosie noted before plunging into the romantic story Strange was attired as a writer under the secretary of the military department of the Honorable the East India Company's service at Madras in 1773, and remained there for several years. In November, 1776, he was appointed Under Searcher of the Sea and Gate, and in 1777 as contractor for supplying the company and the inhabitants with brick and chunam. In 1785, while on furlough in England, he read the account of Captain Cook's voyage in 1778 to the Northwest Coast of America, and was greatly impressed with the possibilities of a new field for profitable trade. On returning to Madras he placed before the directors of the East India Company a lengthy memorandum of "outlines" for fitting out a trading expedition to the Northwest Coast of America, and shortly after his expedition was financed jointly by Strange and David Scott. They sailed from Bombay on December 8, 1785, and from his journal, a copy of which Mr. Hosie procured recently from Madras, the whole history of the ill-fated expedition is furnished.

The final chapter in the historical part of the report is the address given by Mr. Beaumont Boggs on the Hon. Amor de Cosmos, which is of unique character because of the very personal, intimate and humorous character of the reminiscences.

"Well, Johnny, I don't see how you will get off to see any football matches this season, as your grandfather died four times last Summer."

"Yes, sir, I know, but grandpa has married again."

SPORTING GOODS STORE IS BOUGHT

Mr. G. W. Robinson Purchases Business Formerly Conducted by Messrs. Harris & Smith

The Harris & Smith store at 1221 Broad Street, which has carried a stock of cycling and general sporting goods, with a repair department, has been acquired by Mr. G. W. Robinson, vice-president of the Canadian Wheelmen's Association and secretary of the Victoria Bicycle Club, and will in future be known as "Robinson's," as he considers that a short name will contribute to its popularity. The store is being overhauled, new fixtures are being installed, and a complete stock of cycles, cycling accessories and general sporting goods will be displayed in bright and attractive surroundings. Mr. George Harris, a member of the firm of Harris & Smith since it was formed in 1903, will be foreman of the mechanical department. He has a wide range of experience and is skilled in repair work on sporting goods from cycles to guns and fishing tackle. Mr. Robinson started with the firm of Plimley & Ritchie Ltd., as secretary-treasurer in 1918, when it was incorporated. In 1920 he took over the interest of W. A. Ritchie and became president and manager. He took a large part in building up the business to its present important position, and on leaving the firm the staff presented him with a handsome electric coffee percolator suitably engraved as a mark of esteem for his eleven years' work from 1918 to 1929. Mr. Robinson has resided in Victoria for many years and is an old boy of the Boys' Central School. His father was at one time in business on Yates Street.

Recently a man was heavily fined for kissing a strange girl on a sea-side promenade. A very lucky man have been married before now for less than that.

OIL AND COAL CO. INCREASES CAPITAL STOCK

Capitalization of Concern Will Be $1,000,000 — Operations Proceed in Flathead Valley

ANNOUNCE PLANS FOR SHARE ISSUE

The B.C. Oil & Coal Development Company, with headquarters in this city, has increased its capital stock by 600,000 shares, giving it a capitalization of $1,000,000 par value.

The shares under new articles of incorporation, which were adopted at a special general meeting of the company here last night, were altered from a par value of $5 each to $1 each. This change in value does not affect the capitalization as the 60 shares will be automatically altered to five $1 shares.

The articles of incorporation were adopted so as to take advantage of some of the provisions of the new Companies Act passed at the last session of the Legislature.

The shareholders present from various parts of the United States were very optimistic with respect to the prospects of the holdings which are in the Flathead district in the southeastern corner of British Columbia.

Under the new issue it is proposed by the directors to place 160,000 shares on the market to be taken up by the holders of present stock at the rate of two shares of a new par value of $1 each for every $5 share held under the former par value, which will give present shareholders the option to take $2 stock for each $5 of stock now held. The terms of payment will be extended over a few months.

There will then likely be another part of the treasury shares placed on the market to newcomers, at possibly $3 a share. It was announced at the meeting that there are 54 per cent of the present shareholders residing in Canada.

The meeting was presided over by the president of the company, Dr. Ward E. Potter.

The Veterans' Corner

A special meeting will be called by Pro Patria Branch of the Canadian Legion to enable Mr. F. Landberg to make an appeal on behalf of the Canadian National Institute of the Blind. As soon as Mr. Landberg has settled the date further announcement will be made.

THE largest radio manufacturers in the British Empire—Pioneers of Canada's radio industry—DeForest Crosley would never throw a challenge to every Canadian home without a product that was sure to back it up—without a product worthy of DeForest Crosley leadership.

By every test of music ANY new DeForest Crosley definitely challenges comparison with the best—the finest radio or phonograph you have ever heard. Here is quality—character—that will satisfy you as no radio could heretofore.

Radio's Greatest Resources

Back of this dominating performance standard—back of this challenge stand the greatest engineering resources of radio. Five thousand research engineers have contributed to the development of these new instruments. Not just one, but eight great laboratories have played a part.

Sales-Proven Superiority

Already the acid test of sales has proven the DeForest Crosley chal-

Rhoda, A Red Headed Girl

by Harry Mitchell Webster

"I had to let her dance away with another man," he said. "But I'm going to find her now."

The thing he feared, but hadn't seen how to avoid, happened. The big man on the other sofa got to his feet and turned around. Babe gave a gasp and then waited to see what was going to happen. For a second or so, the two men were looking at each other rather intently.

"Oh, hello!" Max Lewis said. "I didn't know you were here. Did I hear you say you were going to dance with Miss White?"

"I suppose that's what you heard," Martin replied. "I said 'it.' Then he had what we welcomed as an inspiration. 'Oh, I beg your pardon,' he went on. 'Miss Jennings, will you let me introduce Mr. Max Lewis?'"

Habe said she was delighted, and it seemed to Martin that her enthralism was unfeigned. Apparently Lewis thought so, too. Anyhow, neither of them objected when Martin slipped away into the crowd.

Later, but not until an hour or two later, going over the evening on foot, as it were, he was able to surmise that his complacency over the apparent success of this manoeuvre, getting rid of both Lewis and Babe with a single well-placed introduction, might have had something to do with his discomfiture in the scene which followed with Rhoda. She, of course, couldn't have known how much deeper he'd plunged into her affairs while she'd been finishing out the dance with Higgins. But it wasn't surprising if she'd felt, when he came up and took her arm, detaching her from her most recent partner with barely a word, that his manner was assuming a good deal too much, as if their friendship had been a matter of months rather than of minutes.

He was aware that she looked at him a little oddly as he started to lead her away, and he explained his action, adequately he felt, by saying, "We've got to find some place where we can talk. Shant we get out of this? I'll take you home, if you like."

At that she turned to stare at him, still half-perplexed, but in rapidly mounting exasperation.

"I don't want to get out of this," she said. "I came here to dance."

Before he could speak, she added, more amiably, "We can talk now, can't we? And look, there's a place we can sit." The sofa she took possession of occupied the most public place in that hall, opposite the head of one of the flights of the grand staircase. "This is all right, isn't it?" she asked.

"I suppose so," he agreed discontentedly. "At least, it's got its back to the wall, and no one can hear haven't anything to do with those people. I don't know who Max Lewis is, but I don't believe that he had any reason in the world for getting introduced to me, except that he thought I'd be nice to dance with." Her attitude relaxed a little and she smiled. "And I?" she went on, "thought that you'd be nice to dance with. And you were. Come on! Let's dance some more."

"They were trying to find you," he stubbornly persisted. "Before somebody else did; somebody they are afraid of, or are trying to take advantage of; an old man they spoke of as 'G. J.' Do you know who he is?"

"I haven't the remotest idea in the world," she said. "Can't you see now it's all nonsense?"

"Sit still another minute anyhow and listen to the rest of it. Then perhaps you won't think it's nonsense."

"It was the woman who seemed most excited about me. She told Max it was his job to find out where you lived tonight. She said that, as soon as they knew that, they'd have G. J.—whoever he is—where they wanted him. She said there wasn't any time to lose, because you might see that ad in the paper and answer it."

Now, in furious exasperation, she cried, "I—I—I! Why do you keep talking about me? Why should I answer an advertisement for Rhoda McFarland? I won't tell you that much, anyway. And I won't let Max Lewis take me home, either, if you'll know better than I. It sounded to me like something you ought to be told about."

"Sound?" Do you mean you heard people talking about me?"

"I'll start with something else," he said, after a moment's silence. "Do you remember asking me why I looked funny when you told me your name was Rhoda, and my saying I had an association with the name that I couldn't spot? Well, I have spotted it now. For the last week there's been an advertisement in the personal column of The News for the address of Rhoda McFarland. The reason I'd noticed it was that it was always a blind ad; the advertiser, I mean, never giving his own name."

"Well," she asked, as she encountered his gaze, a sharpness that sounded like panic audible in her voice, "what has that got to do with me?"

He wanted to say, "You are Rhoda McFarland, aren't you?" but his nerve failed him. He didn't try to answer her question.

"Was it Rhoda McFarland you heard them talking about?" she asked, her voice now in better control, "and did you think there couldn't be more than one person named Rhoda?"

"I didn't hear any name mentioned at all. I'll tell you what I did hear. The man said, 'She's the girl, all right.' The woman asked him how he knew. He said the girl was cagey—meaning, I suppose, that she hadn't told him as much about herself as he'd tried to find out—but that he had got her first name. That name, apparently, clinched it, since the woman had already half-recognized your face—the girl's face, I mean."

She noticed the slip and pounced upon it angrily. "Why do you keep talking about me? What makes you think it has anything to do with me?"

"I heard the woman call him Max," he went on doggedly. "He was Max Lewis, all right. I got a look at him later. I don't know who the woman was. I didn't even see her properly. All I noticed about her was that she looked younger, somehow, than her voice had sounded. It came out in their talk that she'd been going by on the sidewalk just as—just as this girl they were looking for turned in. The woman thought she recognized her, got hold of Lewis somehow, and had him come to the dance just to scrape an acquaintance with you. I can't help it. I do think it was you they meant. I knew he told you his first name, but I didn't know until then that you'd told him yours."

"I didn't," she instantly put in. "The only person I told my name to tonight was you." But a look of troubled bewilderment came into her eyes. "He might have heard me tell you, though," she added. "I saw him crossing the floor right near us while we were talking about it."

For a moment he thought she'd given in and admitted she was Rhoda McFarland. He moved his hand to cover hers as he said, "Then it's my fault really that he found out, and that makes me the natural person to help you."

He thought it wasn't his touch she minded, for it wasn't until he spoke of helping her that she snatched her hand away. "But I don't need any help," she told him vehemently. "I

Just think of it! Could not rise from his back without assistance and had to be helped into his clothes! One month later he was active, free from pain and feeling 20 years younger. Read how he did it—

"I am 60 years of age. Four years ago I had a severe attack of Rheumatism and lameness, which continued for six months, and for some time I was quite unable to dress myself or rise up from my back without assistance. After reading about Kruschen Salts I commenced taking a half teaspoonful of Salts in a glass of hot water first thing in the morning for about three weeks and I began to improve. Afterwards I took a small dose, enough to cover a sixpence, every morning in my first cup of tea, and in a month's time I felt quite well and have not since had an ache or pain and feel 20 years younger. I am still keeping to the small dose in the tea every morning. I am thankful to say it has answered well in my case."

H. H.
It is common knowledge that rheumatism and lameness are caused by needle-pointed uric acid crystals getting lodged in the muscles and joints.

Kruschen Salts dulls the sharp edges of these crystals and then dissolves them away altogether. Afterwards, Kruschen flushes the system clear of every trace of these dissolved crystals. Furthermore, Kruschen prevents uric acid from ever forming again. How? Simply by assisting the body to expel every day all undigested food which produces uric acid and other body poisons which undermine the health. Kruschen Salts is obtainable at all Drug Stores at 50c and 75c per bottle, and is manufactured by F. Griffith Hughes, Ltd., Manchester, Eng. Established 1756. Importers: McGillivray Bros., Ltd., Toronto.

MODERN PROGRESS KILLS FOLK SONG

Students Hear Interesting Address on Folk Music by Comte Jean Suzannet

The democratization of society, the removal of the class distinctions, the tendency towards universal education, the improvement in means of communication between town and country, and between the nations, have all combined to kill folk song and with it, folk music, stated Comte Jean de Suzannet in the delightful talk which he gave on Thursday evening to a group of Mrs. R. Baird's vocal students on the occasion of a folk music studio. Examples of some of the folk music referred to were heard in the course of the evening when several of the students contributed a programme of pleasing character.

The speaker recalled the first authentic records of folk music and the folk dance. In the middle ages music had belonged to one of three groups, folk music, church or sacred music, written by the monks, and the songs of the minstrels and troubadours. Folk song he described as the song which sprang spontaneously from the hearts of the people. The origin could only be conjectured, but it must have had its source in the instinctive gift of some talented person composing for wedding, banquet, or some other festive occasion, and, being heard by others, passing eventually into common usage. Often such songs were found in countries far apart, taking on some local character in the words, the melody of the times probably responsible for the carrying of the song. This adaptation of new words to old tunes was often found also in connection with church and secular music, with the consequent result that the origin of the melody might be mistaken. The troubadour and minstrel music similarly passed out of the banquet hall into the servant's hall.

The troubadours were described as men of noble birth who went from castle to castle singing their songs and telling their stories, "always welcomed by the ladies of high estate who sat at their spinning while their men were away at the wars." As the years went by the folk songs multiplied, some coming into existence by invention, others by adaptation of the old. And just so long as the distinction between the social classes lasted, so long as the people of one locality or one country had their distinctive customs and occupations, so long as the town remained remote from the country, so long would folk song be found in such places.

A THING OF THE PAST
"I am a great admirer of progress, but it tends to mould men into uniformity, to level humanity, and to the disappearance of distinctions. It certainly tends to kill folk song," said the speaker. "Lovers of folk music must resign themselves to the fact that it was a thing of the past, to be enjoyed only as an inheritance from our forefathers."

The character of folk song was described. Almost always, in any country, the songs pictured the life of the people—drinking songs, comic songs, tragic songs, sea songs, soldier songs, slumber songs, labor songs, love and heartache songs.

only the mode of expression and the characteristics of the different nations and provinces moulding them into distinctive forms.

Some of the different groups were discussed. The Hebridean and German folk song was particularly favored. In connection with the former reference was made to the visit here recently of Marjorie Kennedy-Fraser and her delightful presentation of some of these "which preserve purity and nobility of line." Scotland's folk music must be regarded as a thing apart, vying in color and rhythm only with the Spanish. Russia's great folk music resources were quoted. In this country it was found in the ordinary folk song of the people as popularized by Chappin, and in the choral music of "Little Russia." Nearly all Spanish folk music was associated with the dance, with a gay rhythm but an underlying sadness. In this group also belonged the Mexican and South American folk song, although sympathy with the most complete song of France was distinguished by the charm its words, the grace of its rhythm. Noels and Christmas songs belonged to this group, although the pastoral motif which was popular during this time.

The folk song of Italy, "generally uninteresting, disappointing, with far less individuality than that of either France or England," was briefly reviewed. Germany's group was the most complete and varied in Europe, supplemented in later times by tunes by celebrated composers set to patois words. The Austrian folk song group was very distinct, a feature found almost universally in this group being three beats and quick time. Salzburg possessed its own special type of folk song. The vocal refrain made up from very high notes and very low notes in rapid succession, and giving the effect of a man and woman singing together, was characteristic of the Tyrolean song. The Hungarian group was remarkable in being headed principally in the heterocentric instrumental bands which played to the unheeded spontaneous tune of their leader.

ON THIS CONTINENT
Passing over the Scandinavian, Rumanian, Polish and Oriental folk song, the speaker came to this continent for the subject of his next reference, the Indian and negro folk song, the former dealing entirely with folk lore subjects; the latter, in the spirituals and plantation songs, reflecting the suffering of a race. Comte de Suzannet also recalled some of the Arabic folk song which he had heard during residence in North Africa, usually sung to the accompaniment of archaic instruments, and reflecting the memories of connections with Andalusia, Granada, and other parts of Spain.

In the singing of folk song, the students were reminded it was important to remember that it was both music and literature, the words often being even more important than the melody. Moreover, the folk song because of its simple and unadorned character, demanded a knowledge of history and general culture in its interpretation.

Among the students who took part in the programme were Miss Bessie Richards, who sang the old Somerset "Oh No, John," and the Welsh air, "All Through the Night," Miss Marian Kidd, "How Can I Leave Thee" (German); Miss Gladys Marchant, "Crown Song" and "Believe Me If All Those Endearing Young Charms," the Comtesse de Suzannet, "As I Was Coming Back From Beautiful Roodia" (French-Canadian), and an old Normandy folk song and French folk song; Captain Hunt, "Drink to Me Only With Thine Eyes" and "Mohac's Field" (Hungarian); Mrs. Oliver, "Cease Your Funning" and "Linden Lea"; Miss Porter, "Bens of Jura" (Hebridean). The folk music character of the recital was sustained in the Mexican "Borocita," "Cielito Lindo" and "Tajera," which Mrs. Attfield, Miss Attfield and Miss Snyder played as trios for guitar and mandolin.

Philosophy of Leisure

The discussion of the subject, "Education and Leisure," at the recent conference of the National Council of Education and the follow-up programme being arranged for this season makes the lecture to be delivered here by Dr. H. T. J. Coleman on the topic, "The Philosophy of Leisure," very timely. Dr. Coleman is always a welcome visitor to Victoria, and the University Extension Association hopes to welcome a large audience at Victoria College next Thursday evening.

City man (visiting farm) to farmer: "Can you tell me which is correct: 'A hen is sitting' or 'setting'?" Farmer: "That's not what worries me. When I hear a hen cackling I want to know whether she is laying or lying." A man entered the out-patients' department of a hospital. His head was enveloped in a mass of bandages. "Are you married?" asked the doctor. "No," replied the patient. "I have been run over." Rena—Another argument with your husband? What's the trouble this time? Freda—The same old thing. I'm right, and he won't agree with me.

Helen knew why they whispered...

"WHAT an amazing improvement!" they whispered. "How well she looks!" How different from that other occasion just a few weeks ago. Not so kindly had they whispered then. Helen had distinctly heard them say "washed out" The day before she had done the family washing—the hardest of all her time-taking tasks. And what an ordeal it had been! A nightmare that would live in her memory until next washday.

Vaguely she wondered what it would cost to send the clothes to a laundry. But Helen had not been content to wish and wonder. Thus it was that she learned the truth about present-day power laundries and traded drudgery for the priceless gift of youth.

You, too, will find, at the laundry, a service that exactly meets your family needs; at a cost that will not tax your Family Budget. You will learn too that laundry-washed clothes are cleaner and last longer.

29 CITY HEALTH OFFICIALS REPORT LAUNDRIES 100% SANITARY

Absolutely no danger of contagion from laundry-washed clothes is unanimous verdict of health authorities in twenty-nine leading Canadian cities. A recent survey by Elizabeth Stone MacDonald, Home Economics expert, showed not one case of disease traceable to the laundries. One hundred percent compliance with all city sanitary codes in existence was reported in Dominion-wide investigation. The laundry way is the safe way for your clothes.

Romantic Drama of Mountain and Desert Featured at Capitol

Dorothy Mackaill, Myrna Loy and Ian Keith Have Leading Parts in Brilliant Production, "The Great Divide," Showing on Screen All This Week at Local House

Beautiful Backgrounds Add Appeal to Very Realistic Plot

THE West has rarely been the background for a more colorful and stirring romance than that depicted in "The Great Divide," the first National-Vitaphone production, which opens a six-day run tomorrow at the Capitol Theatre. Dorothy Mackaill is the bright particular star. Those who remember "The Great Divide" as a play will find the dramatic stage vehicle, which enjoyed popularity for many years in North America and Europe, heightened in suspense and action in this all-dialogue Vitaphone talkie.

A number of tuneful songs have been injected into the scenes, surprising those who never could have believed that the play would lend itself so admirably to music.

The picture at some moments assumes the rhythm and harmony of an operetta, especially in a big festas that takes place in Mexico. But the audience is brought back to the story with such adroitness and skill that no one realizes the digression.

Stephen Ghent, played by Ian Keith, sings the melodious theme song, "At the End of the Lonesome Trail," and displays a fine voice. Myrna Loy sings "Si, Si, Señor," another tuneful number. The story does not demand a singing role from Dorothy Mackaill, the star, but this charming actress portrays one of the most sensational parts she has undertaken on the screen.

She is a flapper who has grown up. She is sophisticated, pleasure-seeking, and with few thrills left to experience. She is the life of a wild party on a westbound train which ends when she is kidnapped by a fake caballero in old Mexico. After wandering with him for many days through the beautiful Arizona country she learns to love him. Later she protects him from the law that has pursued them through the mountains and desert. The plot is strong and realistic in keeping with the scenic grandeur of the locale.

Star System Crushed

Wesley Ruggles, who recently finished the direction of "Condemned," the film with Ronald Colman, believes that the star system is virtually crushed. "This may be only a temporary condition," he said, "and may mark the beginning of a new era in stellar personalities, but for the time being, with few exceptions, the star system as we have known it for years in the motion picture colony is no longer in existence. It is doubtful if any great number of the large array of film stars will survive in the new medium of expression."

A "Dark" Scene

The first cameraless scene in a motion picture is said to be the one in "Tiger Rose," a Warner Brothers production, the action of which during a single scene, occurs in a dark room and only the players' voices are used to tell the story.

FROM $7.30 GROSS TO $200,000,000

William Fox' First "House" Was Under Ten Dollars—Business Is Now Ten Score Millions

William Fox, central figure in a business romance almost too improbable to serve as a film story, will this week round out twenty-five years' experience—some of it hard; most of it glamorous—in the motion picture industry. That industry, now the sixth most important in the world, is but twenty-six years old, and if this indicates that William Fox got in on the ground floor he will be the first one to verify that he had early trouble in keeping out of the basement.

It's a long projection from the "Great Train Robbery" to the "Cockeyed World," but the specific measurement or progress can be registered in the theatres in which these two widely separated epics were set forth. Mr. Fox showed the former twenty-five years ago in a tiny theatre on Broadway, Brooklyn, and he contends to this day there will never be a more modest one. It had 147 seats and when filled to capacity at five cents an admission the gross was $7.30.

Today he owns and controls the largest theatrical enterprise in existence, which includes the largest theatre in the world—the Roxy—with 6,300 seats. At that theatre recently the "Cockeyed World," establishing a world record, provided a gross of $100,000 in four weeks' showing—a Fox film in a Fox theatre.

The first time William Fox decided some day to own a theatre his mother took him up in her arms, threw him high and put him down again with a warning to stop dreaming. Later people were less patient about it. All the time he knew he would own one, right from the beginning.

When at fifteen he went to work he got $5 a week. He had the boss, and when the boss heard that he kept out of his money was 60 cents a week he told him he was a good boy. When he heard that the 60 cents was used—with an expenditure of 10 cents a night to see some show every night the year round, the boss gave William Fox his word of honor that he was never going to get any more. However, the boy knew how to shrink cloth and do other details of the business exceedingly well. His pay rose to $17 a week. He became foreman, then superintendent. And one night when the boss was saying that if he got the theatre nonsense out of his mind he had a future, William Fox showed him a bank-book with $900 in savings recorded. He bought the business. A year later he took $1,600 out of the business. And that sum was the foundation of the William Fox enterprises, now valued at more than $200,000,000.

His old boss was one of his first customers at the little hole in the wall theatre at 700 Broadway, Brooklyn.

CARROLL NYE AND IRENE RICH LEAD

Two Clever Artists Head Cast in "Craig's Wife" at Columbia Tomorrow

Critics who have referred to Carroll Nye as one of the screen's most typical American boys, pay the young man a compliment with a fair foundation of fact. Nye's father, William Putnam Nye, is a direct descendant of Ezra Putnam, one of George Washington's aides in the Revolutionary army. Carroll's mother was a Stuyvesant prior to her marriage, and is a descendant of an old Knickerbocker family.

Nye's latest screen role is that of a college professor in "Craig's Wife," Pathe's screen production of George Kelly's stage play of that name which will have its premiere at the Columbia Theatre on Monday. Irene Rich is featured in the title role of "Craig's Wife," which William de Mille produced and directed for Pathe. Warner Baxter, Virginia Bradford, Lilyan Tashman, Ethel Wales, Jane Keckley, George Irving, Mabel Van Buren and Radia Rae are in the supporting cast.

Pantomime by English Players at Royal November 11

Victoria audiences will be pleased to hear that, commencing on Monday, November 11, and continuing for the balance of the week, with a holiday matinee on Monday and a popular price matinee on Saturday, the management of the Royal Victoria Theatre will present Philip Rodway's British Pantomime Company in two musical pantomimes, the first three days "Humpty Dumpty" and the last three days of the week "Mother Goose." "Humpty Dumpty" is a bright melange of song and dance and witticisms. It is thoroughly clean and there is not a dull moment in it. Moving with the snap and assurance that characterizes the finished performers from the Old Country, it never lasts long enough for any audience. Heading the cast is "Wee Georgie" Wood, an uproariously funny comedian most of his time, but withal whimsical and appealing. He is assisted in fun making that keeps an audience roaring with laughter the whole evening by Dan Leno, Jr., sovereign clown and the son of the famous comedian of the same name who made a large portion of the world happy for years.

He who laughs last has most probably had the joke explained to him.

PLAYHOUSE OFFERS "THE CHARLATAN"

Clever Artists Included in Unusual Mystery Picture Showing All This Week

An unusual and entertaining picture of society seizures and the craze for mysticism is promised for the screen of the Playhouse Theatre tomorrow when the management of that playhouse will present "The Charlatan," a Universal production based on the famous Broadway stage success of that name.

Holmes Herbert, Rockliffe Fellows, Margaret Livingston and Fred MacKay are seen in the principal roles. George Melford directed the picture under the supervision of Carl Laemmle, Jr.

The story concerns the weird events following the staging of a fortune telling party at the home of one of the society leaders of a certain American city. The Hindu mystic, played by Holmes Herbert, becomes tragically involved in the tangled heart affairs of the several couples attending the seance. The startling results make gripping drama.

Also on the same bill is Anita Stewart, Huntly Gordon and Gaston Glass, who revived the custom of roller skating in Hollywood during the making of Columbia's "Name the Woman."

"Journey's End" to Show at Royal on Monday, Eighteenth

Each of the allied powers in the Great War has recently dramatized its experiences of conflict. France had its "Tomb of the Unknown Soldier," the United States its "What Price Glory?" and England its "Journey's End." Each of the three plays expressed the individual reactions of three different nations, but it is only the English play that has had a truly world-wide appeal. Although written from a distinctly British viewpoint, although dealing with essentially English types, it has been a sensation of sensations wherever it has played. It will be seen in Victoria at the Royal, November 18, 19 and 20. "What Price Glory?" during its greatest American popularity, was sent to London, and failed there. The American viewpoint was alien to the English audience. But "Journey's End," when it was shown in New York last winter, scored a success even greater than the tremendous ovation that it received when it opened in London. The truth is that "Journey's End," although a distinctly English play, has an appeal that is bounded only by the limits of humanity. It shows to us a group of men in a front-line dugout in France, and it shows us these men during a few days where, in they are waiting for a great German attack that they know will overwhelm them. In the tense days of expectancy and dread, all barriers of nationality and racial types are broken down, and we see the raw and essentially the stuff of which humanity is made.

All-Talking Society Drama Replete With Thrills at Coliseum

Fox Movietone's Production, "Pleasure Crazy," Opening Tomorrow, Visualizes Up-to-Date Story of Activities of "Society Burglars," With Jewel Collection as Centre of Attraction

Exciting Polo Game and Song Specialty Featured

A SOCIETY drama usually lacks thrills. "Pleasure Crazy," the Fox Movietone all-talking production showing at the Coliseum Theatre this week, proves very much to the contrary. A thrilling series of incidents are woven into this up-to-date tale of two women who wanted two men, after their own divergent fashions, and the novel efforts of a "society burglar" group to obtain a famous collection of emeralds.

The emotional struggles between a woman who threatens him and a vivid Alma Dean, a discontented woman of the social world, and her husband, whose patience has its limits, over Alma's boy friend, furnish an effective contrast to the growing but unsuspected affection for Dean himself by Nora Westby, the feminine member of the burglarious trio.

An exciting polo game culminates in an accident to Alma's lover. A tense "showdown" follows between the husband, his wife and the polo player. Then the ingenious plotting of the three crooks and Dean's interruption of Nora as she is robbing the safe, is followed by the desperate measures attempted by Alma to clarify the situation as far as she is concerned. "Nora's" frantic efforts to save Dean from the dan-

Music and Stage

Comment on Current Events

By BEATRIX F. CAMERON

In reading about the activities of the music clubs in various places in the Northwest, the schedule prepared by the Ladies' Musical Club in Victoria compares favorably with that offered by other clubs.

The Bellingham, Washington, club has the most ambitious programme, as, in addition to the amateur work of the club, they are bringing to Bellingham George Hopkins, pianist; Florence Beecher, soprano; Kolia Levienne, cellist; Ernest Caldwell, baritone; Cornelius van Vliet, 'cello; David Campbell, pianist; Margaret McCoy, pianist; Paul McCool, former pianist-prodigy; the Portland String Quartette; Friedman, Zimbalist, the Carlton Band, the Smallman A. Cappella Choir, the Seattle String Trio, Lawrence Tibbett, and Peter Merenbium, violinist.

The Vancouver Women's Musical Society will present Elly Ney, pianist; Barbara Lull, violinist; Gertrude Humby, Green, pianist; and Mina Hager, contralto, in addition to their regular fortnightly programmes.

The artist recital course of the Seattle Ladies' Musical Club includes Gail-Curci, coloratura soprano; Eileen Zimbalist, violinist; Lawrence Tibbett, baritone, and Myra Hess, pianist.

The University of Washington Women's Federation has on its course John Charles Thomas, baritone; Agna Enters, Impressionistic dancer and mimic; Alfred Cortot, pianist, and Giovanni Martinelli, tenor.

Marguerite Churchill as Nora, Kenneth MacKenna as Dean, and Dorothy Burgess as Alma are the three principal characters of this noteworthy "talkie." Campbell Cullen, Henry Kolker, Douglas Ollmore and Frederick Graham also have prominent roles, and Donald Gallagher's direction, with the pictorial direction of Charles Klein, is largely responsible for an excellent picture. Clare Kummer has been complimented for her dialogue and special song, "I Only Knew It Was You."

According to the Spokane correspondent in "Music and Musicians," the Spokane Musical Art Society has been carrying on an advertising campaign in the business men's clubs in Spokane. Speakers from among the members have addressed the various luncheon meetings. Through the radio perhaps more than anything else men have evidenced an interest in music, their appreciation even reaching the classic compositions, until it is now an accepted fact that music as a part of a man's life is necessary for the rounding out of a successful career.

Kolia Levienne, 'cellist, who gave so delightful a programme last year for the Arion Club, will be the soloist for the club's first concert of the present season. Mr. Levienne will also play for the Ladies' Musical Club, as one of the Cornish Trio, the other members being Berthe Poncy, pianist, and Peter Merenbium, violinist.

Abram Chasins attended a concert recently at which the pianist played several of his compositions. At the conclusion of the numbers the artist bowed and pointed to the composer in the box. A lady in the next box whispered excitedly to her companion, "Oh, I thought all composers were dead," murmured the lady. This was too much for young Chasins. "Madame," he said, "most of them are, but some of us still walk about."

In a book called "Harlequinade," Constance Collier tells the story of her life up to the present time. One of the incidents told by Miss Collier is of a visit she had with the Paversham some years ago. They had bought a house from Richard Le Gallienne, and at which one of the most constant guests was a 12-year-old girl, a Giji Guide.

Miss Collier tells of the half-comic, half-pathetic sight of this youngster setting off one cold Spring morning as cook and general hostess for a two weeks' camping expedition. After a rather hard April storm the young girl came back early the next morning to report that in the middle of the night the storm had knocked her tent down and had pinned her beneath it. To the sympathetic question as to whether she had done about it, Eva Le Gallienne had done about it, Eva Le Gallienne said, "I crawled out, and built it up again."

This anecdote was repeated because it went far to explain the success of the Civic Repertory Theatre, on Fourteenth Street, New York. Miss Collier writes of the palmy days of the His Majesty's Theatre in the Haymarket, where Sir Herbert Tree, his half-brother, Max, and many more celebrities worked and played. From the dome of the playhouse Noel Coward recently looked down on the group of "first-nighters" whose dislike Mr. Coward is said to reciprocate. The new opera, "Bitter Sweet," was being given, and a company is being formed to play it in New York. Peggy Wood will not appear in the new company, as Mr. Coward will retain the entire original company in London.

Condensed opera has been tried as an experiment at Ravinia Park, near Chicago, where, because of the rather miscellaneous audience and the distance which many have to travel after the performance, it has been found advisable to eliminate thirty to fifty minutes from some of the longer works. The innovation has been received with favor.

Arturo Toscanini has returned to Italy from his triumphs as conductor of the La Scala Opera Company on tour in Austria and Germany. On his arrival at Milan he was met by the leaders of the Fascist and the Governor of Milan, who presented him with a personal telegram of congratulation and thanks from Mussolini. He was then taken triumphantly in the private coach of the city, to his home, where he received from the public officials a jeweled baton.

Congratulations are due a young Victoria girl, Miss Mary Bucklin, on winning the Pochon Quartette scholarship at Mills College, Oakland, California. The Pochon Quartette is made up in part of the members of the Fionziey Quartette recently disbanded, and the scholarship carries with it the privilege of playing 'cello parts in the quartette at Mills College, with a year's instruction.

BIOGRAPHY TO ADD VALUES IN FILM DOM

Suggestions Sought in Plan to Include Motion Pictures in Class Work Along Lines of Actuality

DIALOGUE WIDENS SCOPE OF MOVIES

Lives of Worth-While Winners in Life's Race Deemed More Impressive Than Pot-Pourri of Fiction

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 2. — The cinema moves on into fields of dignity with the double announcement that biography has at last been attempted in celluloid, and that Will Hays has requested the University of Southern California for a series of suggestions for motion picture use in class work.

That old phrase, "The motion picture is in its infancy," is nearer true today than two years ago. A different type brain has come into the industry with the introduction of talk. Call the result "squawking," the "holier art," or any other opprobrious name you may choose from a vast selection of unkind epithets, but the fact remains indisputable that a certain degree of sophistication has entered the gelatine entertainment through dialogue.

The life of Al. Smith, chosen by Winfield Sheehan as his first biographical picture, will undoubtedly score. Wisely, it follows the vein for realism in reading which has swept the country.

A census of the public libraries reveals that people are reading fact before fiction. Autobiography and biography have held the field some time, and the public yearns for the undiluted romance of sheer living. There is every reason to believe this will be the most successful food that can be offered for other entertainment.

When Lawrence Tibbett was chosen to make a sound picture his producers missed the greatest opportunity of their careers in not capitalizing on the biographical craze with this artist. The story of Tibbett, small town boy, son of a Wakersfield sheriff, singing through a youth of hardships which accumulated until there was a combined financial and sociological pressure sufficient to wipe any man with ambitions out of the race—is more tremendous a tale than any fiction the staff writers of that studio are able to conceive. It is tremendous because it is woven out of the simple cloth of man's existence.

Lawrence Tibbett is young enough to make the picture himself, and his artist's soul is so fallow for new experience that he would have flung himself into the accomplishment of such an epic attempt with a frenzy of enthusiasm.

With the beginning of this first biographical celluloid, one may safely predict a dozen similar tales to follow. There is no "monkey-see, monkey-do" comparable to that which exists in this village.

Thus, after thirty-five years of picture making, the emirs of the trade have their eyes opened to the glorious possibilities of realism. They are to be pardoned for not having seen it before. The romance of the rise from poverty to success is seldom appreciated by those who make it. They have been too busy accomplishing the fact to absorb it in its true proportion. The Adolph Zukors and Joseph Schencks and Uncle Carl Laemmles of the trade came from the leanest of purses to the plethora of present-day millions. The thing is too close to them to permit of dramatic chiaroscuro.

Dean Carl T. Waugh, of the College of Letters, Arts and Sciences of the University of Southern California, is embarked upon a diligent search for educational material available for celluloid. He won't have to look far. Almost any subject which can be taught in a classroom can be taught visually by the cinematic reel.

When we make lessons a delight instead of a drudgery, the coming generation will begin to take its place in the sun—the rightful place it should have in a century of tremendous changes.

We are even going to have movies on our transcontinental trains in the future. When that is accomplished the real meaning of sanctuary as afforded by the cathedral will be fully understood by a few of us.

Comedy Company Opens At the Crystal Garden

A. LEGGE-WILLIS

Opening its fourth season at the Crystal Garden next Tuesday evening, November 5, the Co-Optimist Comedy Company presents the delightfully witty comedy "An Angel in the House." The play was originally produced at the Savoy Theatre, London, under the management of the late Mr. H. B. Irving and scored a tremendous success.

During the past three winter seasons the Co-Optimist Comedy Company has entertained hundreds one evening a week with its clever presentations of farce and comedy. This winter the plays will be presented each Tuesday evening and an augmented cast will take part. Those taking parts in "An Angel in the House" will be Miss Betty Jennings, Miss Noel Cusack, Mrs. Legge-Willis, Mr. A. Bishop, Monsieur Philippe Vaucher, Mr. T. Golby, Major Taylor and Mr. Legge-Willis.

Armistice Day Film

"Over There Today," a film presented by Pathe for exhibition on Armistice Day, shows Cantigny, St. Mihiel, Belleau Wood, Verdun and the other battlefields as they looked during the war and as they are today. The picture shows the extent to which nature and man have repaired the ravages of war.

Baldpate's Seven Keys

Richard Dix has the leading role in a talking version of "Seven Keys to Baldpate," which has been put into production by Radio Pictures. Mr. Dix may next appear in "Hawk Island."

Shadow Becomes Satisfied

—By THORNTON W. BURGESS

Who knows by has enough is wise. If he for more no longer tries. —Old Mother Nature.

While Striped Chipmunk was worrying and doing his best to keep out of the way, Shadow the Weasel wasn't worrying at all. He wasn't even thinking of Striped Chipmunk. You see, he hadn't known that he had been anywhere, near Striped Chipmunk's home. What a relief that would have been to Striped Chipmunk could he have known it. But Striped Chipmunk didn't know it, and when he went to sleep that night he was not altogether comfortable in his mind.

There was a very good reason why Shadow the Weasel did not think of Striped Chipmunk. You see, he had plenty to think of right where he was. It was a long time since he had visited Farmer Brown's barn. Following his last visit, Robber the Rat and such of his family as had managed to escape, had moved out of Farmer Brown's barn. Since then they had moved back and the tribe had very greatly increased. So, of course, Shadow the Weasel had found good hunting. You know, he is a born hunter and there is nothing in all the Great World that he enjoys more than hunting rats.

It was Flap who discovered that something very unusual was going on in Farmer Brown's barn. You will remember that Flap had chased Shadow under the barn. He had remained a little while watching through the little hole in the underplanning through which shadow had disappeared. But he had seen nothing more of Shadow. There he had trotted round back of the barn. He was just in time to see a great, big grey rat, who had every appearance of being terribly frightened, start across toward the henhouse. You see, Flap caught him before he could get there. Flap delights in killing rats.

As he turned back, Flap, to his great surprise, spied another rat—a half-grown young rat. He was also leaving the barn and leaving in a hurry. He was headed toward the big strawstack in the barnyard. He didn't get there. That was Flap's fault. My, how excited Flap was getting! He became still more excited when a third rat suddenly appeared. This one saw Flap, hesitated, and turned back. Then, with a squeal of fear, he once more turned and this time Flap caught him before he had gone far.

There is nothing in all the Great World that he enjoys more than hunting rats.

Presently rats began coming out of that barn faster than Flap could possibly take care of them. Some of them reached the henhouse and disappeared under it. Some of them also reached the strawstack and disappeared under that. And some just kept on running, apparently not knowing where they were going.

"I don't understand it," thought Flap, as he paused for a few minutes of rest. "No, sir, I don't understand it. All those rats acted as if they were scared half to death before they saw me at all. They acted as if they were afraid of something in that barn. It's more than I can understand."

You have guessed why those rats were leaving the barn. I am sure, it was because of Shadow the Weasel. Any one of those rats would rather have faced Flap than have faced Shadow the Weasel. How Shadow did hunt through that barn! There were few nests of rats he didn't find. Just as jolly, round, bright Mr. Sun started up in the blue, blue sky, Shadow left the barn. He was going back to the Green Forest. For once he was satisfied. He had had all the killing he wanted.

Film's Most Dazzling Spectacle Seen at the Dominion This Week

"Hollywood Review." Opening Tomorrow, Declared Ne Plus-Ultra of Movies' Huge Musical Extravanzas, With Laughs, Tuneful Melodies and Sparkling Dialogue Aplenty

Galaxy of Talking, Singing And Dancing Artists in Cast

NEW songs, new dances by stars of screen and stage, lots of "gags" and abundant laughs, tuneful melodies and sparkling dialogue—and don't forget the girls. "The Hollywood Review," a huge musical spectacle staged and screened by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, which has its first showing in Victoria tomorrow at the Dominion Theatre, has them all. It has everything.

Not one star, but dozens—names to conjure with in the motion picture world, pass in review before your eyes, each with song, dance or skit, each with his or her proper balance; each, often with a background of gorgeous girls in gorgeous settings, brilliantly illuminated with color and sound.

Twenty songs! As many dances. Tremendous ensembles make this supermusical production as the great parade of stars goes by with Marion Davies in male impersonation in a ballet number. "Tommy Atkins on Parade," in which she both sings and dances; Norma Shearer and John Gilbert in a modern "Romeo and Juliet" number; Beale Love in song and dance; Conrad Nagel with song and sparkling dialogue; Anita Page as beautiful as ever; Joan Crawford in a luring song and dance act; Buster Keaton in one of his best screen laughs; Karl Dane and George K. Arthur; William Haines in one of his famous comedy skits; and also Stan Laurel and Oliver Hardy; "Ukelele Ike," the maestro of the instrument which gave him his name; Gus Edwards—Marie Dressler, famous comedienne with Polly Moran in another; The Albertina Rasch ballet; the Brox Sisters, who, by the way, are Victoria girls; Jack Benny, the vaudeville humorist; Natacha Natkova—all these and many others, blended into one great revue.

It is an all-talking, all-musical, all-dancing sensation! Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer has done itself proud and if you do not hasten to purchase a ticket you will cheat yourself of the greatest eye and ear entertainment the screen has ever offered.

In Hostile Tibet

"The Silver Valley," which has just been released, is said to be the first film record ever made in the heart of Tibet and is the result of the Nicholas Roerich expedition into that country. Mr. Roerich and his companions were held captive for five months by hostile officials in Tibet. They were forced to live in tents at an altitude of 10,000 feet. Throughout the period of captivity the temperature hovered around forty degrees below zero. Five men and ninety animals perished.

Musical Shorts

As the first of a series of musical short subjects which Pathe plans for release soon, the film "Mandarin" will be shown. This is based on Kipling's poem and is a pictorial depiction of the verse set to music. Other productions planned in the series are "The Trumpeter," "Roses of Picardy," "Auf Wiedersehen" and "Moonlight and Roses."

Study Art in Paris

"Hold Your Man," in which Laura La Plante is seen, is the story of a young American couple after the wife decides to study art in Paris. Her model, unfortunately happens to be a romantic Frenchman, a fact which, together with the arrival of his sweetheart and the other's husband, creates a farce-comedy situation.

Grocer: "Here's your flypaper. Anything else?"
Rastus: "Yessuh, Ah wants about six raisins."
Grocer: "Do you mean six pounds?"
Rastus: "Naw, suh. 'Bout six raisins—jes' enough for decoys."

Health and Diet Advice

By DR. FRANK MCCOY

AFTER TREATMENT OF RHEUMATISM

Any eliminative measures which will stimulate the growing out of rheumatic poisons may bring about at least a temporary cure of the various forms of rheumatism. Sweating baths are often helpful. These may be taken at mineral springs or in Turkish bath establishments. There is little value to the mineral effect of these baths, and about the same good can be accomplished through taking a hot tub bath in the patient's own home.

Various medicinal remedies have been tried, and some have proven of temporary help, but some of these remedies are injurious to the heart muscles, and their use is neither necessary nor advisable.

ADVANCE GUARD OF V.C.'S ARRIVING

Prince of Wales Personally Supervising Preparations for His Banquet to War Heroes

LONDON, Nov. 2.—The advance guard of the Canadian holders of the Victoria Cross arrived at Liverpool yesterday en route to London for the dinner tendered by the British Legion of Ex-Service Men, and at which they will meet the Prince of Wales.

Mr. T. F. Lister, national vice-president of the British Legion, welcomed the Canadians.

The Prince of Wales is personally supervising the arrangements for the dinner, which will be held in the Parliament Buildings on the night of Saturday, November 9, two nights before Armistice Day.

EMPIRE DISHES

The dishes on the menu, approved by the Prince, are of all-British products. It will be a simple dinner of five courses—soup, fish, a joint of beef, poultry, sweets and Empire fruit. The cigars and cigarettes will be of British make.

The liquors will include champagne, red and white wines and whisky, all from Empire sources.

The Prince will receive every guest personally at the entrance to the Royal Gallery of the House of Lords. From 350 to 400 guests will attend and there will be a staff of between eighty and ninety waiters, most of them ex-service men wearing decorations.

The tables will be decorated with Flanders poppies, and music will be supplied by the band of His Majesty's Grenadier Guards.

Broke Three Ribs

Monte Blue has resumed work on "Tale of Esmeralda" following an accident in which he sustained three broken ribs when he was swept off a raft. In addition to Monte Blue, Myrna Loy, Betty Compson, Nyma Granoff, Noah Beery and Ivan Simon are in the cast.

Higgins: "Hello, Matthews, old chap! I hear you backed Perfect Fool at the races the other day and made a small fortune."
Matthews: "Yes I didn't do badly."
Higgins: "How did you spot the winner?"
Matthews: "Oh, they were the last words my wife said to me as I left the house."

New Technicolor Musical

Dorothy Mackall, the First National player, will shortly be surrounded by a new musical show, which is to be photographed in Technicolor.

The nature of the story has not yet been announced, but it is expected that a number of performers now prominent in musical plays and revues will be in the picture. This will be virtually Miss Mackall's return to musical comedy from whence she sprung. Her first professional engagement was at the London Hippodrome several years ago, and she also appeared in a re-

Is of "Divine Image and Superscription"

The services at St. John's Church, Quadra Street, will consist of Holy Communion at 8 o'clock, morning prayer at 11 and Evensong at 7:30 o'clock. The rector, Rev. Canon F. A. P. Chadwick, will be the preacher at both services. As there will be Communion in connection with the morning service, there will be a brief address on the "Significance of the Lord's Supper." The subject of the evening sermon will be "The Divine Image and Superscription." The Sunday school will assemble at 2:30 o'clock in the schoolroom, Mason Street, and the Anglican Young People's Bible Class will meet in the church vestry at 2:30. Mr. G. J. Burnett will render an organ recital immediately preceding the evening service, commencing at 7:10 o'clock.

British Israel Association

The subject of the lecture on Monday is "The Prophecy of the Book of Daniel," by Mr. W. H. Blackaller, Board of Trade Building, 521 Bastion Street. A cordial invitation to be present is extended.

Pen Used at Reunion Signed Disruption Protest

It was an historic pen with which the two moderators, Principal Martin and Dr. Mitchell, signed the Uniting Act which formally brought into one reunited church the Church of Scotland and the United Free Church, at the great uniting gathering on October 2 in the city of Edinburgh.

It was the pen used by Dr. Chalmers at the time of the Disruption eighty-six years ago when he, along with many others, signed the protest which brought the Free Church into existence.

PSYCHICAL SOCIETY LECTURE OFFERED ON LIFE'S PURPOSE

The Society for Psychical Research, which meets in St. David's Hall, 1414 Douglas Street, Sunday evenings at 7:30 o'clock, announces that the subject for tonight will be "The Purpose of Life, as Interpreted by Spiritualism." The subject will be given by the pastor, Miss Ada M. Garrard. After the discourse there will be demonstrations of clairvoyance and messages by Miss Garrard, Mrs. Charles Muir will render a solo "Teach Me to Pray." A hearty invitation is extended to all.

STOCK CRASH IS ANALYZED

Temple Pastor to Discuss Functions of Money at Evening Service—Morning, Religious Experience

MUSIC FOR DAY IS ATTRACTIVE

The "Stock Market Crash," a theme of contemporary interest, will be the subject of the evening sermon at the Victoria City Temple today. Dr. Clem Davies will discuss the proper and improper functions of money and the shocking and glorious power stored up in coin. In the course of the address, not the honest brokers, but the stock jugglers will come in for condemnation.

"The Varieties of Religious Experience" will be the morning pulpit theme. The music rendered will be as follows: Morning anthem, "He That Stands" (Spinnery); evening anthem, "Holiest Breathe an Evening Blessing" (Harby); will be sung by the choir, and Miss Isabel Crawford will sing the solo, "Behold, There Shall Be a Day" (Wooler).

"DOES GOD FORGIVE?"

Mrs. Davis Will Speak at New Thought Temple Tonight on
"Unforgiven Sin"

"Your Business and How to Mind It" is the subject of the morning services at the New Thought Temple, 720 1/2 Fort Street, with Evelyn Davis speaker. In the evening Mrs. Davis will talk upon "The Unforgiven Sin." Does God forgive? Is there such a thing as a lost soul? These are some of the questions that will be discussed.

On Wednesday the topic will be "The Courage to Do and to Be." These lectures deal with success in life and are free to all who desire to make good in their business of living.

The reading-room is open daily from 11 to 5 o'clock.

CHESLEY HERE

Metaphysical Speaker to Lecture
Twice Today at Progressive
Thought Temple

Dr. A. F. Barton presents Chesley as the speaker at both services in the Progressive Thought Temple, 935 Pandora Avenue, today. At 11 o'clock Chesley will speak on "The Secret of Happiness," and again in the evening at 7:30 on "How to Improve your Condition." It is almost two years since Chesley last visited this centre and all are looking forward with keen anticipation of her message. Chesley will only be in the city for today. Chesley is recognized as the most dynamic teacher on the metaphysical platform today and for this reason is in great demand.

Dr. Barton will have charge of the midweek meeting on Wednesday at 8 o'clock when he will give a health lecture on "Winter Colds and How to Avoid Them." All these meetings are open to the general public, to whom a cordial invitation is extended.

Bible Teacher Is Coming

Dr. R. E. Neighbour Will Speak at "The City-Wide Bible Class," to Be Held in the Central Baptist Church on Tuesday, November 5, at 8 P.M.

VIRGIN BIRTH: CENTRAL TOPIC

DR. R. E. NEIGHBOUR WILL DEFEND DOCTRINE OF CHURCH

Both Sermons of Rev. J. B. Rowell
Today to Deal With Judgments

This evening the pastor of the Central Baptist Church, Rev. J. B. Rowell, will preach on the subject, "The Judgment of the Wicked at the Great White Throne." Many are of the opinion that all mankind will appear at a general judgment. The pastor will point out the different judgments referred to in God's Word.

At the morning service the subject will be "The Judgment of Believers After Death." This subject is of tremendous importance to every Christian and all should hear it.

At "The City-Wide Bible Class" on Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock, Dr. R. E. Neighbour, well-known Bible teacher, will speak on the subject, "The Virgin Birth; Many Infallible Proofs." It is open to all to come and study this important theme.

PEACE IS THEME AT EMMANUEL

Choir Will Render Maunders' Cantata on Monday, November 11

Peace will be the theme of the anthems to be rendered in Emmanuel Baptist Church today. The morning anthem will be "O Pray for the Peace of Jerusalem." At the evening service Mendelssohn's "Grant Us Thy Peace" and "How Lovely Are the Messengers That Preach Us the Gospel of Peace."

Rev. Henry Knox will take as the subject of the morning sermon, "Loyalty to Christ." The Lord's Supper will be observed at this service. For the evening service the sermon subject will be "The Message of the Cross." It has been arranged that on the evening of Monday, November 11, Armistice and Thanksgiving Day, the choir will render Maunders' "A Song of Thanksgiving." The choir is also preparing to sing a number of new anthems on Sunday, November 10.

VICTORIA WEST TOPIC: FREEDOM THROUGH TRUTH

The services today at Victoria West United Church will be conducted by the pastor, Rev. H. J. Armitage, B.D., who will preach at the morning hour on "Freedom Through the Truth." The junior choir will render the anthem. The Sunday school meets at 12:15 o'clock. At the evening service the subject of the message will be "Ordinary, Yet Extraordinary." The senior choir will render special music. All are welcome to these services.

On Wednesday at 8 o'clock the midweek service will be held. The study will be the Gospel of St. Matthew.

PICTURE LECTURE ON THE ORIENT

Manners and customs of the East will form an interesting topic this evening at James Bay United Church in view of the place that the East has been occupying in the news columns recently. The sermon will be illustrated by colored slides and will cover the various phases of Oriental life, including home, school and social practices. The minister will be in charge of both services and will preach at the morning hour. November 10 will be observed as Thanksgiving and Armistice Sunday, and an interesting announcement will be made next week about the same.

ADVANCES UNDER REV. G. PRINGLE

Executive Pleased That Pastor Declined Offer — Preaches
Twice Tomorrow

At the morning service in Centennial, Mr. Pringle will draw some lessons suggested by that fine idyll of loyal affection so beautifully told in the book of Ruth. The choir will sing the anthem "Great and Marvelous" (Turner). Miss Samuelson taking the solo part. In the evening the minister will give a frank answer to the question, "What Use is the Bible?" a question which is being asked today by many thoughtful people. Shelley's anthem, "Hark, Hark, My Soul," will be rendered by the choir with Mrs. Tupper as soloist.

Sunday morning, November 10, will be wholly a war memorial service. The sermon-subject will be "Thinking Back to It," Mr. Pringle served in the war for three years. His comrades have elected him honorary president of the Overseas Cameron Highlanders Association. He is also chaplain of the Seaford Highlanders of Canada. Centennial Church, therefore, extends a special and cordial invitation to attend that service to all who took part in the war or are now connected with our army or navy.

At a recent meeting of the session of Centennial United Church, its members expressed their great appreciation of the action of their pastor, Rev. George C. F. Pringle, in declining to consider several calls that he had received to other fields of service. One of these came from the committee which was appointed to nominate a minister to succeed Rev. Richmond Craig in First United Church, Vancouver, the nomination to go forward to the national headquarters in Toronto.

The character of the work in this downtown area made a strong appeal to Mr. Pringle and carried with it various advantages, so that the Centennial executive was all the more gratified that their pastor had declined to consider it. The rapidly growing attendance at all services indicates the response that is being made to his ministry.

ST. MARK'S CHURCH SUBJECT SAVORS OF ALL SAINTS

The following services will be held at St. Mark's Church, Cloverdale, today: Holy Communion at 8 o'clock, Holy Communion and sermon at 11, and Evensong at 7 o'clock. Rev. O. L. Jull, vicar of the parish, will be the preacher for the day, taking for his subject "Lessons From All Saints' Day." There will be special hymns sung and an anthem at the evening service by the choir under the leadership of Mrs. Jull.

MRS. WIFFEN AT FIRST SPIRITUAL

Mrs. Lily F. Wiffen, of Aberdeen, Wash., spiritualist evangelist, will conduct the service in the First Spiritual Church, Harmony Hall,

724 Fort Street, this evening, at 7:30 o'clock, her subject being: "I Am That I Am." Mrs. Frampton, the resident pastor, will supply the rostrum of the First Spiritual Church.

NINE YEARS of Increasing Profits for Confederation Life Policyholders

FOR the ninth successive year profits for participating policyholders of this Association have been substantially increased.

And remember—100% of all profits earned by the participating branch are allotted to participating policyholders.

What does that mean? It means that the Confederation Life Association is well managed, that it is careful in the selecting of risks and that it is particularly prudent in the investment of policyholders' funds.

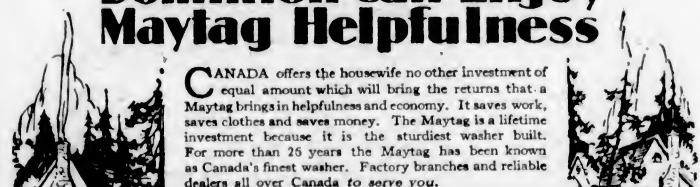

These are reasons why Confederation Life Association is so satisfactory a company to insure with.

Write for the pamphlet entitled "Profits to Policyholders." It describes some policyholders' experiences.
